Truman Flays Brownell, Brands Charges as 'Lies'; Reply Awaited

Confessions Read

Death Penalty Requested In Greenlease Kidnaping

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The government pressed hard today its demand for the death penalty for the kidnap-slayers of Bobby Greenlease in the second day of their trial.

Late yesterday the confession of the 41-year-old Mrs. Bonnie Heady, a respectable housewife turned drunkard, was read to the jury. It gave the grim details of how Carl Austin Hall, dope addict and ex-convict, shot to death 6-year-old Bobby soon after his abduction.

Father Under Strain

The boy's multimillionaire father Robert C. Greenlease, visibly steeled himself as he listened from a front seat in the crowded courtroom.

Only a short time before, on the witness stand, he identified Bobby's photograph and some of his belongings. He swallowed hard. Sometimes his voice was almost inaudible.

It was the first time the public had heard the full confession. U. S. Dist. Atty. Edward Scheufler read the 26 pages.

In his opening statement for the government Scheufler had asked the death penalty for both Hall and the woman "because of the nature of the crime."

Hall and Mrs. Heady pleaded guilty at their arraignment and Scheufler told the jury, all businessmen from outstate Missouri, that its sole job is to determine whether the couple should pay the supreme penalty. Under the Lindbergh kidnap law a jury must recommend the death sentence before it can be imposed.

Reserve Right To Switch

Attorneys for Hall and Mrs. Heady said they stood on their guilty pleas but reserved the right to make insanity pleas should developments warrant. However, Roy Dietrich, president of the Kansas City Bar Assn. and court-appointed attorney for Hall, said no insanity pleas were contemplated now.

Both Dietrich and Harold Hull of Maryville, Mo., attorney for Mrs. Heady, said the defendants would not be placed on the stand. They said that they did not deny any statement made by Scheufler but they did intend to protect the constitutional rights of the couple and offer mitigating circumstances.

The confession of Mrs. Heady told how Hall shot the little boy when he found a cord he had planned to use to strangle him was too short.

Feared Conscience

It told, too, how the couple earlier had been frustrated in an attempt to abduct the boy's 11-year-old sister, Virginia Sue.

Mrs. Heady appeared almost bored as Scheufler read the confession in a flat, dry voice. Only once did she appear affected when the statement where she told how she drank herself almost into insensibility following the kidnap-

May Admit Neutrals

Stand on Korean Peace Talks Reversed by Dean

PANMUNJOM (AP)—U. S. envoy Arthur Dean told the Communists today the United States would be willing to invite neutral nations to the Korean peace conference under certain conditions—a sharp reversal of his earlier stand.

At the same time, Dean rejected as "totally unacceptable" a Communist proposal to hold the conference at Panmunjom with Russia, India, Burma, Indonesia and Pakistan attending as nonvoting observers.

Two Conditions

The U. N. delegate to preliminary peace talks told the Reds the United States would ask its allies to consider asking neutrals to the full-dress conference if

1. The belligerent nations reach agreement on the Korean question and want to move on the broad Asian questions.

2. The conference bogs down and it appears that progress on Korean problems is impossible.

The talks resume tomorrow.

Meanwhile, Communist interviews with Chinese and Korean war prisoners who refused to go home were called off again today when the Reds called for POWs skipped by persuaders yesterday. And the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission called off interviews for tomorrow when the Reds had not filed a request for prisoners from a new compound by 10 a.m. deadline.

Long Horse-Trade

U. N. and Communist proposals for setting up the Korean peace conference came after three weeks of maneuvering and Dean told newsmen afterward, "This is going to be a long horse trade."

The Red proposal closely followed previous Communist plans, but Dean's move departed sharply from his stand that he had authority only to exchange views on composition of the peace talks.

Dean said the United States is ready to "commit itself" and recommend to South Korea and the 15 other U. N. nations which fought in Korea that neutral nations be invited to the conference after a "completely satisfactory agreement" is reached on Korea or if developments "make it appear desirable" that they take part.

Can Make No Guarantee

The U. S. envoy emphasized, however, that he could make no guarantees as to how the allies would react if the United States recommends the seating of neutrals.

The Red proposal to hold the peace talks at Panmunjom was rejected by Dean minutes after it was advanced.

"Surely, with all the world to choose from some place other than Panmunjom would be satisfactory to you," he declared.

Reaction Is Split Along Party Lines

Democrats Supporting Truman as Brownell Goes Before Senators

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—In an atmosphere charged with political thunderheads, Atty. Gen. Brownell replies today to former President Truman's assertion that Brownell "lied to the American people" in the Harry Dexter White case.

Truman told the nation in a radio - television broadcast last night he permitted White's appointment as U. S. director of the International Monetary Fund to go through in 1946 to keep from exposing an FBI investigation of an alleged spy ring.

'Final Responsibility'

He said the action was taken on his "final responsibility" after consultation with the late Fred M. Vinson, then secretary of the Treasury and later chief justice, and Tom Clark, then attorney general and now a Supreme Court justice.

Truman did not mention FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover as participating in these conferences — a circumstance that prompted Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) to call for testimony from Hoover.

Crisply and scornfully Truman said that when Brownell declared that "Harry Dexter White was known to be a Communist spy by the very people who appointed him" the attorney general "lied to the American people."

Lied to American People

"In backing away from his charge with the mealy-mouthed statement that he had no intention of impugning the loyalty of any high official of the prior administration, he lied to the American people again," Truman declared.

Brownell goes before the Senate internal security subcommittee today with what aides said is a "comprehensive statement" in support of his charges that White was kept in a sensitive government job despite FBI reports to the White House describing the appointee's "espionage activities."

Truman's fighting speech split political reaction squarely down the middle. Democrats — including some who have been critical of him in the past — rallied around him. Republicans scoffed at his defense, promised more disclosures to come.

Stevenson's Comment

Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, said in Chicago that "it is infamous that the man who has done more than anyone else to organize and fortify the free world against communism should be subjected to such malicious political attack."

Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, termed false Truman's assertion the GOP organization had worked "hand in glove" with Brownell on the White case. He said the committee learned of Brownell's original Chicago speech on the subject only 10 minutes before it was made on Nov. 6.

"If Mr. Truman's statement is representative of the truth of the balance of his presentation, then no reliance whatsoever can be put on anyting in the former President's explanation," Hall declared.

Sen. Ferguson of Michigan, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, followed Truman on the air last night to declare that if the former President was aiding FBI investigations

U.N. Lost in Korea, Fielding Declares

Speaker Addresses Record Crowd at C of C Dinner

By CHARLES L. MARTIN

Declaring the United Nations was defeated in Korea, Capt. Michael Fielding told some 235 Marionites last night "The Way Out" in the struggle with Russia for world leadership is to maintain the status quo.

As guest speaker at the 39th annual dinner meeting of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, the world traveler and lecturer spoke at length on various aspects of the struggle between democracy and communism for supremacy.

The attendance was the largest ever recorded for any of the annual dinner meetings.

In a short program preceding Capt. Fielding's talk, Toastmaster M. Paul Hunt, junior past president of the Chamber, introduced officers for the coming year, retiring officers and directors, and special guests.

HUNT THANKED Chamber members for the "privilege and pleasure" of serving them as president during the last year. He also urged they read the annual report to learn all the organization has done, is doing, and hopes to do. He thanked Hugh E. Webster, executive secretary, and Jack E. Lautenslager, assistant secretary and their staff for assistance given during the year.

Following his introduction, Edgar W. Barnhart, president for the coming year, said he "looks for a good year" for Marion and the Chamber.

In introducing Capt. Fielding, Hunt noted that he was born in India and became a captain in the Indian army at 18, remaining in the army until 1920 when he came to the United States.

CAPT FIELDING said in his opening remarks it appears to the rest of the world that the U. S. is pulling in one direction and its allies in the opposite direction. This is because of two things, he said: 1. The thought among our allies it is time for a compromise settlement with Russia, 2. Apparent hard fast rule of U. S. foreign policy permitting no compromise with or appeasement of Russia.

A "glaring example" of apparent disunity between the U. S. and its allies was over the composition of the Korean peace conference. This was because the U. S. wanted a two-sided conference with only the belligerents participating while our allies wanted a round-table conference in an attempt to settle all problems of the Far East, he said.

"IF A KOREAN conference is held, expect nothing to come of it," he warned. We can no more expect Russia to agree to a unification of Korea under democracy than that we would agree to a unification under communism, he said.

Personally he believes the U. S. insistence on refusng to compromise the issues at the present time is right.

There are only three possible solutions in the struggle with Russia for world leadership, he said. These are compromise, an attempted decision through a third world war, and maintaining the White Kept 'To Protect FBI's Probe'

Ouster Would Have Alerted Communists, He Declares in Speech

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Truman told the nation last night that he kept Harry Dexter White in government service despite charges of disloyalty because he did not want to endanger an FBI investigation of subversives.

This was Truman's answer to accusations stemming from a speech 11 days ago by Atty. Gen. Brownell. The former President spoke over a nationwide radio-TV hookup.

Brownell had charged that White had been retained in an important post in 1946 "though he was known to be a Communist spy by the very people who appointed him." White died in 1948.

Blasts Brownell

Truman, jaunty and confident as ever, made a step-by-step summary of the White case, and prefaced and followed it by blasting Brownell's charges as "phony," as "false" and as "shameful demagoguery."

"The manner and timing of what has been done," Truman said, "makes it clear that the powers of the attorney general have been prostituted for hopes of political gain. No election is worth so much."

Truman's first answer to Brownell's charges was that the Republicans were "desperate" because of their election reverses in New York and New Jersey.

The attorney general withheld comment on Truman's talk. Other reaction ran generally along partisan lines.

Truman had told newsmen earlier in the day he would talk to them after his speech, but on departing from the radio-television studio he said, "Nothing tonight. I'm pretty tired. I might say something I shouldn't."

Rips 'McCarthyism'

At one point he lashed out with this:

"It is now evident that the present administration has fully embraced, for political purposes, McCarthyism. I am not referring to the senator from Wisconsin—he is only important in that his name has taken on a dictionary meaning in the world."

As to the action he took in the White case, he said, it was the best for the nation.

He said he wanted the "American people to understand that the course we took protected the public interest and security and, at the same time, permitted the intensive FBI investigation then in progress to go forward. No other course

CIO Approval Of 'No Raiding' Pact Expected

Action at Convention Olive Branch to AFL; Merger Is Still Far Off

CLEVELAND (AP)—The CIO was ready to approve a "no raiding" pact with the AFL today, but the chances of the agreement blossoming into any early AFL-CIO merger seemed dim.

Overwhelming approval by the CIO's 700 convention delegates of the "no raiding" plan was forecast. It would bind individual AFL and CIO unions subscribing to it to refrain from attempting to persuade already-organized union members to switch from AFL to CIO, or vice versa.

While the agreement represents a forward step toward achieving an eventual AFL-CIO merger, top officials of both the AFL and CIO seemed doubtful that the desired unity can be achieved any time soon.

In fact, CIO President Walter

Soviets May Go Along

U.N. Set To Vote on U.S. Disarmament Proposals

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The 60-nation U. N. Political Committee headed for a vote today on U. S.-backed disarmament proposals, including a plan to set up big power arms talks.

The balloting had been held over from yesterday when Russia, faced with certain defeat on her own proposals, asked a 24-hour postponement so she could study the Western resolution. The Soviets seek an immediate ban on atomic and hydrogen weapons followed by the establishment of controls. The West wants controls arranged first and then the ban imposed.

Russia May Go Along

The Russian - requested delay gave rise to speculation that the Soviets might not oppose the Western resolution. Deliberately worded in a non-controversial manner, this simply asks the U.N. Disarmament Commission to continue its work and suggests the big powers might hold private arms talks.

The Russians refrained from opposing a similar resolution last spring. Although this move was hailed at the time as a Soviet contribution to lessening of international tensions, it had no practical effect since the commission still was unable to make much progres.

Meanwhile, a Big Three call for U.N. censure of Israel for the massacre of 53 Arabs in Kibya, Jordan, sparked angry reaction from both sides in the dispute. The Arabs complained the rebuke should be stronger and the Jews labeled it unfair.

Goes To Security Council

The resolution, framed by Britain, France and the United States, was slated to go to the Security Council today or tomorrow. It rebukes Israel for the raid and demands strengthening of the U.N. truce team that watches over the Palestine armistice.

Jordan's minister to Washington, Yusuf Haikal, told the Security Council flatly the Arabs would not be satisfied with a simple rebuke to Israel. He demanded that Israel be requested to punish those responsible for the Kibya massacre and asked that no financial or military aid be granted the Jewish state "without specific guarantees that such help will not contribute to further Israeli aggressions."

A source close to the Israelis said the resolution was unfair in concentrating on Kibya instead of taking in the whole range of border incidents — including alleged Arab provocations and killings.

Need Full Cooperation

He contended that building up the truce observer team would do little good unless the Arabs agreed to cooperate in seeking an end to the incidents.

"Haikal's speech didn't give much evidence of that," he said.

Haikal indicated Jordan would not accept Israel's invitation to high level talks here to try to end the feuding. He said, however, Israel could present any proposals to ease tension through the U.N. Palestine truce chief and the most suitable place for talks would be Jerusalem — not New York.

Nehru Proposal Rejected

POWs Should Be Freed On Jan. 22, Dulles Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles declared today all anti-Communist prisoners of war held by the Neutral Nations' Repatriation Commission in Korea should be given their freedom and civilian status on Jan. 22.

Indian Prime Minister Nehru had recently suggested the question of release of the POWs should be considered anew by both sides in the Korean controversy if the proposed political conference did not take place.

Dulles made clear in a news conference statement the United States rejects this Nehru suggestion and feels provisions of the Korean armistice agreement covering POWs must be carried out to the letter.

He said these provisions state that 10 days after the prisoners were turned over to the repatriation commission (for explanations by Reds trying to persuade them to go home) they must be given their freedom and civilian status.

He said the date for doing this will be Jan. 22.

Dulles also told the news conference that:

1. Eric Johnston, who recently went as a special ambassador for the President to the Middle East, has kept alive an American-favored project for development of the Jordan River Valley and the American government now hopes for increasingly favorable consideration by Arab and Jewish countries in the area.

2. He would not comment on the Harry Dexter White Case since the attorney general was still to talk about it after the time at which Dulles was holding the press conference, and he had no information on which to discuss the effect of the case on U. S. foreign relations.

3. The forthcoming Bermuda conference of British Prime Minister Churchill, President Eisenhower and French Premier Laniel

Lamneck Dons Robe as High Court Justice

Oath Is Administered To Ex-Welfare Head By Ohio Chief Justice

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former Welfare Director John H. Lamneck of New Philadelphia today was sworn in as the 119th judge of the Ohio Supreme Court.

Lamneck, 62, took the oath from Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt in the Supreme Court chamber in the statehouse annex about noon. About 40 spectators looked on as Lamneck swore to uphold the U. S. and Ohio Constitutions as a member of the seven-judge court.

No Greater Obligation

In welcoming Judge Lamneck to the bench, Chief Justice Weygandt observed that, "No greater obligation or opportunity can come to any individual than that of administering even-handed justice in a confused world beset with injustice on every hand."

Immediately following the oath-taking Marshal Ray Jones of Columbus placed a black robe, traditional garb of supreme court judges, over the shoulders of the slight, gray-haired Lamneck.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche appointed Lamneck, a Democrat, to fill the vacancy created by the recent death of Judge Edward S. Matthias of Columbus. Matthias was a Republican.

Lamneck has indicated he will be a candidate next year for Matthias' unexpired term. His appointment runs until a successor is elected next November.

Is Third Democrat

The appointment increased the number of Democrats on the seven member court from two to three. The others are Chief Justice Weygandt of Lakewood and Charles B. Zimmerman of Springfield. Republican members are William L. Hart of Alliance, Henry A. Middleton of Toledo, James G. Stewart of Cincinnati and Kingsley A. Taft of Cleveland.

Donors Needed For Red Cross Blood Program

To date 83 persons are expressing their thanks this Thanksgiving season by registering for the donation of a pint of blood when the Red Cross Blood-mobile unit visits Marion Wednesday.

The number is less than half the quota of 175 needed if Marion County meets its assigned 150 pints for the day. If you are planning to make a pint of blood a part of your Thanksgiving or Christmas, this is the last opportunity as this week's visits are the last to be made by the unit this year. There will be no visit in December.

Wednesday, the unit will be at the blood center in the First Presbyterian Church from 11:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. and on Thursday will be at the Pollak Steel Co. plant.

Anyone in good health, weighing not less than 110 pounds and between the ages of 18 and 50 years is eligible and urged to visit the center on Wednesday.

Volunteers may register by calling the chapter office, 2-1653, and set a time for visiting the center.

Marion County failed to meet its quota in the last visit of the unit here, and according to figures in the Columbus office stands seventh in the list of cities contributing to the blood program.

Who's Who on Review

First Night at the Metropolitan Opera

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)— Please don't ask why you didn't see me at the opening of the Metropolitan Opera this year.

Yes, I missed it. And I'm so sick about the whole business I can hardly talk about it. I don't know how I'll recover my social position.

Anybody who isn't seen at the Met on opening night is definitely an outcast in this town for the rest of the season. Eating all the chlorophyll in the world won't help you. If your name comes up—though why it should, heaven only knows—people say pityingly, "Oh, him! Isn't he the one we didn't even see at the Met?" And the rest is silence.

The truth is I had made careful plans for my appearance at the Met opening this year, because it was the 70th anniversay. When the curtain first went up back in 1883, the papers reported "the show was divided between the stage and the audience."

Well, things have improved since then. Now nobody pays any attention to the stage. The audience is the whole show. Instead of singing "Faust" the performers could have yodeled or put on a minstrel show and nobody would have realized it except a few brazen members of the hoi polloi in the peanut gallery.

You know, of course, the whole object in attending a Met opening is not only to be seen—but to be really noticed. This is getting harder each season. It is no longer enough merely to stand on your head, smoke a Turkish water pipe or playfully spray Mrs. Astrobilt with soda water.

Everybody does things like that, and it no longer pays off. I recall one year when an opera patron got his picture in all the papers because he refused to stand on his head. It was just his way of being different.

You attract attention now more by what you wear than by what you do.

So you can imagine what a blue funk I was in when word leaked out that Maggie McNellis was coming to the opening of a gown of white peau de soie embroidered with pearls and gold; Lady Makins, a gown of lace in flaming scarlet, re-embroidered in chenille and trimmed with red velvet; and Mrs. Carl H. Pforzheime, a robe de style of grape-purple silk velvet with train, pearls, diamonds, long white kid gloves, and white ermine box jacket.

Who would ever notice poor little me in my faded old tux, decorated only with tulle-patched moth holes?

"Why don't you wear something new and daringly different?" suggested my wife, Frances, who unfortunately is unable to attend Met openings, poor dear, because the diamonds hurt her eyes and she is allergic to mink.

Why not indeed? I decided to wear a dazzling leopard skin toupee instead of a hat, a tufted green in a bath towel twined into a loin cloth. Instead of a suit. And instead of tawdry rubies or emeralds I decided to wear the famous Tiffany yellow diamond in my navel, set off by a fine old bare skin descended from Adam.

To cap it all—as a conversation piece—I planned to wear as a watchfob an elderly carnival dwarf with a small white beard, who would cry out at intervals, "Ten o'clock and all is well . . . 11 o'clock, and things are even better. . . ."

Then everything began to go wrong. First, the leopard skin toupee would stay on, even with scotch tape. Next the Tiffany people declined to rent me the diamond, on a trumped up excuse that I had the wrong size navel. Finally the dwarf refused to be worn as a watchfob unless I paid him overtime after midnight and let him pass out handbills advertising his carnival. Naturally, I knew the opera wouldn't let him publicize a rival attraction.

So I had to call it all off, and stayed home and sulked.

"Why don't you just show up wearing nothing at all'" suggest Frances. "Has that been tried?"

No, it hasn't. And it won't be either. Who would ever notice a nudist at an opening of the Metropolitan Opera? Nobody would look at him twice even if he blew a trumpet.

S-Sgt. Betts died Sept. 29 in Korea as a result of severe burns suffered when a can of gas and diesel fuel exploded near where he was working. The accident occurred the previous day. He was 22 years old.

He entered the service from Wellston, O., on April 16, 1952, and went overseas in December, that year.

Surviving besides his widow are an 11-month-old son, James R. Betts III, his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Gullett, and three sisters, Mrs. Betty Sharp, Mrs. Mary McGlone and Geraldine Gullett, all of Oak Hill.

Others named were: Merwin Crandall, vice president; Mrs. Noble Hoffman, secretary and reporter; Mrs. Vada Gibson, treasurer; and George Reinwald Jr., flower treasurer.

Devotions were by Mrs. George Reinwald. The class purchased shares for a Korean war orphan and voted to buy new toys for the nursery class. The date for the rummage sale was set for Dec. 19 at the Palace building.

Contest winners were George Reinwald, Rev. L. H. Ludwig and Mrs. Robert Croman. Lunch was served by Mrs. Hoffman and daughters, Shirley and Marilyn Jo and Mrs. Lawrence Davis, who was a guest.

River Pollution Problem Gets Lift by Voters

Bond Issues for New Sewers and Sewage Disposal Plants Passed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Voters in 20 communities with a total population of 398,545 in the election two weeks ago passed bond issues for sewers and sewage treatment plants that will help clean up pollution in Ohio's streams.

The state water pollution control board studied the tabulation today at its regular meeting. Similar bond issues were defeated in five communities having a total population of 8,555.

The board said approved bond issues totaled $17,615,000, while defeated issues amounted to $833,000.

The board pointed out communities that defeated bond issues still are obliged to provide adequate sewage treatment.

Bond issues passed included:

Akron, 10 million dollars; Ada, $150,000; Avon Lake, $1,265,000; Ashtabula, 1½ million; Campbell, $800,000; Clyde, $250,000; Coshocton, $968,000; Delphos, $435,000; Fairport, $200,000; Grand River, $32,000; Hicksville, $20,000; Kenton, $200,000; Medina, $100,000; Oak Harbor, $230,000; Painesville, $200,000; Silverton, $125,000; Spencerville, $125,000; Sylvania, $146,000; Willard, $69,000; Willoughby, $800,000.

Defeated bond issues were up for vote at:

Bradford, $80,000; DeGraff, $68,000; Gibsonburg, $185,000; Milford, $500,000; New Holland, $50,000.

The City of Salem and village of Williamsburg, by referendum votes, defeated specific sewage treatment projects which had been proposed by municipal issues. The board said these issues did not directly involve bond issues.

New officials elected in November at Salem meet tomorrow with the board to discuss new plans for getting a sewage treatment plant.

Opinions on Highway Bond Legislation Asked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio legislative subcommittee has asked a score of attorneys to submit suggestions for legislation so the Jan. 11 session of the General Assembly can act promptly on highway bond issue matters.

The special session will be held to get the construction program started on arterial highways over the state. That program was approved by Ohio voters in the Nov. 3 election, who authorized sale of bonds to speed the construction.

OHIOAN FATALLY HURT

CHICAGO (AP)—William Kain, 63, of Akron, Ohio, died last night after being hit by a car at Harvey, a Chicago suburb. Police said he had parked his truck to go into a restaurant and slipped and fell on the highway.

7 Await Sentence For Whisky Thefts

CLEVELAND (AP) — Seven men now are awaiting sentence for participating in the theft of $34,000 worth of whisky from an Indiana distillery.

The latest man brought into the group awaiting a decision by Federal Judge Charles J. McNamee is Robert J. Hamilton, 32, convicted by a jury yesterday.

Hamilton was assistant manager in Cleveland for a freight line that was to have brought the whisky here from Seagram-Distillers, Inc., in Lawrenceburg, Ind. last July.

A highjacking gang got the load through stolen papers, however, and brought it to a Cleveland cafe where it was discovered by police and FBI agents.

Another man was acquitted in the same case yesterday. He was Roger C. Carroll, 27, nabbed while helping unload the whisky at the cafe. Carroll claimed he did not know the load had been stolen.

Man's Diploma Lost in Foxhole

Stanford Solves Puzzle With Duplicate Award

STANFORD, Calif. (UP)—A lot of "spade work" goes into getting a college diploma, according to L. Charles M. Hunter, Stanford University, '50.

Hunter received his diploma in August, 1950, in a foxhole near the Naktong River on the Korean battlefront. It had been forwarded by the Army when the university mailed it to him after graduation exercises in June. The Sacramento, Calif., officer had completed his history course at Stanford in January.

When the cavalry platoon he commanded moved up, Hunter found limits to what he could carry. He buried the leather-bound diploma at the bottom of a foxhole.

Six months later, returning along the Naktong, he located the spot where he had left the document, but the sheepskin was considerably deeper in the earth than the two-foot level at which he had cached it.

In the intervening months, farmers had filled in all foxholes and crops were growing on the former battlefield.

Harvey Hall, Stanford registar, found the solution to the lieutenant's dilemma. He turned up a duplicate diploma of the proper year in his office and mailed it to Hunter, who is now stationed at Fort Amador, Panama Canal Zone. His commanding officer, Maj. Gen. Lester J. Whitlock, will present the diploma to him in a formal ceremony.

The first International Posta Congress was held in Bern, Switzerland, in 1874, says the National Geographic Society. Representatives of the United States, Egypt and 20 European countries attended.

Middleweights Pierre Langlois of France and Jesse Turner of St. Louis will be seen in the Saturday night national TV bout out of St. Louis' Kiel Auditorium. St. Louis will be blacked out of the telecast, which starts at 9 p.m., EST.

There was only one known survivor when an eruption of Mt. Pelee destroyed the city of St. Pierre on Martinique Island on May 8, 1902. More than 30,000 other inhabitants were killed.

Grabbed Headlines With Truman Subpoena

Velde's Rush To Get Into Act Wrecked Timing of Well-Planned GOP Expose

By MARTIN S. HAYDEN

WASHINGTON (NANA) A check of the steps by which the now-full-blown story of Harry Dexter White was born has revealed how a well-planned Republican program was upset by the publicity enthusiasm of Rep. Harold Velde (R., Ill.).

Velde made the White story headline of the week last Tuesday when he subpeonaed former President Truman to explain why he promoted his assistant Secretary of the Treasury to a better job after the FBI had warned him of White's suspected Soviet spy ring connections.

Simultaneously, the Illinois congressman gave a big boost to a Democratic claim that the Eisenhower administration was accusing Mr. Truman of personal disloyalty; that, it is now revealed, was not the way Attorney General Herbert E. Brownell planned it when he lit the White-story fuse at a Chicago luncheon speech Friday, Nov. 6.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER and Brownell have already revealed that the President was first informed on Monday, Nov. 2. of the planned expose of the White case, and gave it his approval.

The chronology of what happened thereafter indicates how Brownell hoped things would subsequently develop

He was to make his speech before the Executives Club of Chicago and reveal "for the first time in public" that Mr. Truman promoted White to the U. S. directorship of the International Monetary Fund after the FBI had warned him of White's Red connections.

Then the "proper" congressional committee was to document the charge further at a dignified public hearing.

After that everyone was to sit back and wait for Mr. Truman to answer, if he could, or would.

The "proper" committee was to be the Subversive Activities subCommittee headed by Sen. William Jenner (R., Ind.), not Velde's House group nor Sen. Joseph McCarthy's government operations committee, either of which, it was feared, might flavor the affair with a flamboyance the planners did not want.

THAT JENNER would get the hearing was assured; his committee already knew of the 1945 FBI report from testimony given weeks before by former Assistant Attorney General T. Lamar Caudle) McCarthy and Velde, caught flatfooted, would not, it was assumed, be ready to move.

Thus was it planned and Brownell proceeded accordingly.

G. Frederick Mullen, Justice Department press officer, wrote the first section of the Brownell speech—seven pages of judicial platitudes; Brownell himself wrote the last six pages with the explosive charge.

Key sentences show Brownell did not question Mr. Truman's personal loyalty.

He said Reds infiltrated government in the Truman regime "because of the unwillingness of non-Communists in responsible positions to face the facts and a persistent delusion that communism in the government of the United States was only a 'red herring.'"

He said White "was known to be a Communist spy by the very people who appointed him to the most sensitive and important position he ever held in government."

He said the FBI gave its warning "by means of a report delivered to President Truman through his military aide, Brig. Gen. Harry Vaughan" in December 1945 and that "in the face of this information and incredible as it may seem" President Truman on Jan. 23, 1946 promoted White to the monetary fund.

HE ASSERTED THAT "the manner in which the established facts concerning White's disloyalty were disregarded is typical of the blindness of the former administration on this matter."

At 12 20 p.m. on Nov. 6, one hour before Brownell began to speak, Republican National Committee officials went to work.

Robert Humphreys, the committee publicity chairman, telephoned Senator Jenner in Indiana and told him of the speech contents. Humphreys said later that he also tried to locate Senator McCarthy "But could not reach him anywhere by phone." The purpose, says Humphreys, "was simply to inform the senators in order that they might intelligently answer inquiries."

Simultaneously, Edward O'Brien of the Republican congressional campaign committee telephoned Velde in Pekin, Ill. He says he simply read Velde a part of the Brownell text and that Velde "was interested but had no comment."

Within an hour after the Brownell speech Jenner's committee announced a subpoena calling General Vaughan for testimony the following Thursday (Nov. 12).

Reached by newspapermen in Missouri, Mr. Truman said he knew nothing of the FBI warning and that "as soon as we found White was disloyal we fired him."

At the White House, press secretary James C Hagerty was ready for that, he released copies of Mr. Truman's glowing letter of appreciation sent to White when he finally "resigned" from the government on April 8, 1947.

STILL RUNNING SMOOTHLY, the program continued on Monday of last week when Brownell released a new statement revealing that a whole series of top Truman officials, including Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, also received the FBI warning on White. Mullen casually suggested to reporters: "Why don't you check with some of those other people"

It is now learned that reporters were kept cooling their heels in the Justice Department corridor for three hours after the promised release time of the second Brownell statement because the attorney general was himself contacting Byrnes; It was no surprise to the attorney general when Byrnes remembered it all and told newsmen that he had not only received the warning but had discussed it personally with Mr. Truman.

Relatively, all was still going well until Tuesday afternoon when a Democratic member of Velde's committee, Rep. Francis E Walter of Pennsylvania, revealed angrily that Velde had subpoenaed everyone involved including Mr. Truman, Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark and Byrnes Walter said he got his information from committee counsel Robert Kunzig and quoted Kunzig as saying "We've got to get into the act."

VELDE FLEW into Washington Wednesday to find a kettle stewing. Already administration leaders, including Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, were phoning to plead that the House committee get out of the act

Reps Kit Clardy of Michigan and Gordon H. Scherer of Ohio, the only Republican members of the committee in town, huddled with Velde in his Virginia apartment all afternoon. Clardy favored the Truman subpoena but argued that it should be delayed because "I as a lawyer don't like to try cases backward: we ought to get the story on record and then hear Truman" Velde for a time silenced that argument by saying that O'Brien, speaking for the Republican committee, had approved the subpoena.

Late in the afternoon Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall telephoned Velde from Los Angeles telling him that Humphreys was going to contact him with a message and that he (Hall) hoped Velde would listen to it.

From 9 p.m. Wednesday until 1 a.m Thursday there was another apartment huddle. Humphreys and Clardy both now admit the subject was a national committee plea that Truman should not be subpoenaed and that Velde's committee should not run a competing investigation with Jenner.

JENNER AGREED to postpone the Truman subpoena indefinitely. He so announced Thursday morning but too late to kill the effect of Mr. Truman's dignified refusal to obey the committee order.

Meanwhile, the well-laid plan was off the track.

President Eisenhower had to state Wednesday that he personally disapproved of the subpoena. In the course of a press conference give-and-take the President, answering a complaint that Republicans were trying to make a subversive of Mr. Truman not only denied that but went further and diluted the Brownell charge. He said it would be beyond his credence to think Mr. Truman had knowingly kept a Communist spy in office.

Finally, Thursday afternoon, Mr Jenner held his "dignified" hearing to "document" the original Brownell charge Planned as a "climax" it was tame stuff after the subpoena furor and the President's press conference

Looking at the plan gone awry today, Representative Clardy summed up the sad situation

"They can't blame the House committee," he said, "if things went bad. We have a duty to protect and inform the public We set out to perform that duty. If they didn't expect it it's not our fault. We should have been taken into their confidence

"I'm not being critical, but things just do go wrong sometimes."

Some People All the Time

Blood has been shed in Trieste, the British Foreign Office believes, because murderers have been paid to stir up riots among people never noted for their evenness of temper.

The plot seems to have originated with certain survivors of Mussolini, who sparked World War II by rousing Italians into making warlike gestures.

The trouble in Iran has been as cruelly calculated as if that trouble spot had been inoculated with germs. It seems likely there has been the same kind of plotting against the security of Jews and Arabs in Palestine.

These have not been spontaneous uprisings. They have been as contrived and artificial as riots started by Communist goon squads in Paris, Tokyo, New York, or London. The acknowledged masters of riot-rousing are Communists.

But they have no copyright on the technique.

There is no closed season on the ignorance and passions of human beings.

In a very real sense, the test of self-government in the United States is whether or not it can disseminate enough information to keep all of its people from being fooled all of the time.

The test is made every minute of every day, while the fate of the republic hangs in the balance.

It is being made when the opponents of Secretary of Agriculture Benson stir up resentment against his proposals for repairing a severely damaged farm program.

It is being made whenever motives are misrepresented, facts are distorted, or prejudices are systematically embittered.

Self-government is built on ability to discriminate between reality and artificiality—ability to resist the hoodwinkers of popular opinion.

With rare exceptions, uprisings and so-called spontaneous movements are the result of deliberate provocation, whether they occur in the blood-puddled streets of Trieste, on the sidewalks bordering the White House, or in the form of protests or petitions.

Some of the people can be fooled all of the time. The preservation of the republic is determined from day to day by the people's ability to discriminate between the true and the false.

Let the Reproof Be Gentle

That Canadian who made up such a convincing story about World War II that it was accepted and published as true has really wronged no one.

Whatever reproof he has coming for making his fiction stranger than the truth should be gentle. He told his story in a good cause, as many stories have been told in similar circumstances.

He wanted people to believe in the power of faith.

When the author who helped him write his story and the publishers who helped him circulate it have squared things to their satisfaction, the fact will remain that many of us profited by reading "The Man Who Wouldn't Talk."

And if it's any comfort to the author, George Dupre, now reported to be in a state of mild shock over the repercussions of his hoax, some of us suspected as we went along that here was a case of truth so much stranger than fiction that fiction would have been more credible.

If we can forgive Dupre, surely he can be forgiven by those who have nothing to lose but their self-esteem. He is not the first man who contrived a story to put over a point.

"As the cab driver was saying to me on my way here tonight"

"As a friend of mine was saying to me only this morning. . ."

"When I was a boy your age . . ."

Making Safety Pay

The revision of automobile insurance liability rate classes to reward safe drivers and penalize reckless ones is only the beginning.

Insurance thinking, having gone this far, will continue in the same direction as experience provides more evidence that automobile hazards are relative to human behavior.

In some future time, not too far distant, chronically reckless drivers will be barred from the highways. They will be unable to purchase insurance at any price because of their bad records.

Drivers with a growing number of accidents charged against them will still be able to purchase insurance but at such a high premium they will have a powerful financial incentive to improve their driving habits.

There will be a bonus for drivers who have proved themselves to be completely trustworthy. The risk in automobile liability insurance will be viewed like the risk in fire insurance, where safety is rewarded with low premiums and hazard is penalized with high premiums.

The automobile insurance companies have made a good start toward rationalizing what has grown from nothing into a vast business since the dawn of the automobile age. Risk is being determined by the habits of drivers.

Truman, Tyler Parallel

By David Lawrence

Radio-TV Reply Leaves Big Issues Unanswered

Former President Truman did not state all the facts last week when he wrote the House Un-American Activities Committee citing a long list of precedents in an attempt to justify his refusal to honor a subpena issued in due form by the committee chairman. Mr. Truman cited only the refusals of presidents who at the time were actually in office when Congress asked them for information.

He failed to cite all the most important precedent in the records of Congress, which shows that John Tyler, 15 months after he left the White House, did testify before a House Committee in response to its request for information.

Curiously enough, a somewhat parallel issue had arisen then. It concerned the use of funds by a former secretary of state, Daniel Webster, who had set up what was an FBI of those days to conduct detective work in connection with the activities of agents of foreign governments.

THE CONTROVERSY was whether Mr. Webster had used the funds for the purpose Congress had in mind or for political and business purposes.

The majority report of the House Committee, dated June 9, 1846, said:

"The Committee have examined Mr. Tyler, the late President of the United States. He testified that when he came into the presidency, he found the foreign relations of the country in a very delicate condition in certain particulars, which the committee does not deem it expedient to specify, requiring, in his opinion, the employment of confidential agents; and, for reasons assigned by him to the committee, he regarded his secretary of state (Daniel Webster) as the fittest person to select and employ them."

The minority report, which disagreed with the findings on the use of the money, also mentioned "the testimony of ex-president Tyler."

THUS IT IS PLAIN that the Congress of the United States, on a matter of great delicacy involving espionage as well as the proper use of federal funds, and the integrity of subordinate officials, has felt that it had a right to examine a former president of the United States.

Mr. Truman's decision to "tell all the facts" to a television and radio audience is not a satisfactory substitute for an examination by a committee of Congress. Here are some of the questions which members of Congress might have asked Mr. Truman, and anyone will be able to see whether in his speech Mr. Truman answered any or all of them:

1. Did Mr. Truman himself actually read the FBI report of February 4, 1946 to which his secretary of state, James F. Byrnes, called his attention by letter?

2. If Mr. Truman dod not read the document, whose summarization or evaluation did he accept as the basis for his decision not to fire Harry Dexter White?

3. If Mr. Truman decided to keep White on in the government for purposes of surveillance, why did he not tell J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, about it or at least direct his attorney general, Tom Clark, to do so?

4. IF MR. TRUMAN decided in his own mind not to fire White and to keep on watching him, why was no record of that decision made anywhere in the government, not even in the files of the Treasury Department, where the then secretary of the treasury, the late Fred M. Vinson, would naturally be interested in recording it?

5. Why, if it was decided to keep White on in the government, was he permitted to take along with him to the monetary fund subordinates in the Treasury who, in the FBI reports, had also been accused of involvement in the Communist espionage ring?

6. Why did Mr. Truman tell the reporters last week that he would have to consult his files in Kansas City to refresh his recollection on the White case, and what right has a president of the United States to take away to his private residence from the government files any documents or papers that belong to the government?

7. IF MR. TRUMAN has in his possession today any files on the White case, does he contend that this action — taken by him as a private citizen — it not subject to the subpena power of Congress and does he feel that he has a right now to refuse to tell Congress either what the papers are or what is in them?

8. Did Mr. Truman ever ask the FBI for any reports on White's activities after White left the Treasury Department and began his work on the monetary fund?

9. Did Mr. Truman know that White, while an official of the monetary fund, used his position inside the governmental organization in Washington to recommend for employment in the government persons whose loyalty had been questioned?

10. Did Mr. Truman ever acquaint himself with the facts as to why the grand jury, in 1948, was unable for technical reasons under existing espionage laws to indict White?

IF MR. TRUMAN knew this, why did he not during his subsequent four years in the White House tell the Congress of the need for strengthening the espionage laws to cover up such loopholes?

11. Since Mr. Truman argued, as Mr. Byrnes says, that because White had been confirmed by the Senate he could not hold up the issuance of a commission, why did Mr. Truman — because of a political feud last year — refuse at any time to issue a commission to a United States attorney for Nevada who had been confirmed many months before by the United States Senate?

THE FOREGOING questions do not impute disloyalty or sympathy with the Communists to Mr. Truman — that's a smokescreen raised by his apologists to divert attention from the incompetence, laxity, and looseness prevailing in the Truman administration on the matter of ridding the government of subversives.

For it is important to remember that a man may still sit in a government post and give documents to an agent of a foreign government, and yet escape indictment under the weak espionage laws of today. That's why dismissal from government service on loyalty or security grounds has been and still is the only remedy avialable.

Power of Speech

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dwight Eisenhower's trip to Canada for a speech to the Canadian Parliament brought his mileage for oratorical purposes up to 22,000 since he was inaugurated last January.

This does not include last summer's Denver trip, which was primarily for vacation purposes, though the President made one speech on it before he returned to Washington.

It is of interest in this connection that Eisenhower now has made more than 30 speeches, putting him ahead of his two nearest competitors for speech - making during the first 10 months of a new administration.

Franklin Roosevelt and Calvin Coolidge are tied for second place with 28 speeches apiece during their first 10 months. But the President isn't bucking for a record.

He is bucking for listeners. He wants to put across a point of view in the United States. A remarkably articulate man in his own right, he is carrying on his version of a crusade in public affairs with his power of speech.

With due respect to his skill, the President is up against something harder to overcome than Hitler's entrenched armies in World War I. He is up against the barrier of misunderstanding.

Words have been misused too often to conceal thoughts, motives and actions, instead of to reveal them. They have been high-jacked by the highwaymen of propaganda and resold under new names.

Waste has been called conservation, mobocracy has been called liberalism and economy has been substituted for extravagance.

Dictatorship has been called democracy, money - cheapening has been called a boom and cheap money has been called highwages and prosperity.

Reactionaries have been called progressives, crass materialism has been mixed up with a "high" standard of living and nonsense has been fobbed off as wisdom.

Rectitude, a virtue rarely honored, has been sniffed at as a shortcoming of imagination when it was mentioned.

Prudence has been called stinginess. The production of wealth has been misrepresented as a bad break for the poor while the production of trouble has been mealy-mouthed into a blow for freedom.

Foolishness has been dubbed progressivism.

An arsenal of words with hurtful meanings has been kept handy and opened up on the slightest provocation to do as much damage as possible.

Scamps have roamed at large in the guise of respectable citizens, liberty has been manhandled by despots pretending to be its friends, rights have become wrongs and there has been a scrambling of meanings which make what happened at the tower of Babel sound like a rendition by St. Olaf's choir.

This is what President Eisenhower is trying to straighten out with his power of speech. It is a monumental and historic undertaking.

He is about to discover what he may never have noticed — that words have been used so recklessly for concealment instead of revelation that many of the people who hear them now think they mean the opposite of what is intended or have given up trying to find any meaning in them at all.

Disillusioned Admirer

Government by Negligence Pronounced

By Raymond Moley

Two weeks ago, or well over a week before Attorney General Brownell broke the sensational news associated with the name of the late Harry Dexter White, I wrote a piece for this space which told of how Churchill and Roosevelt gave their approval to "the Morgenthau Plan," which provided for the destruction of the industry of Germany.

The architect and American exponent of that plan was none other than the same White who was the subject of the now famous FBI report.

THE MORAL of that piece was the danger of our national safety occasionel by carelessness of the part of men in high office.

In that case, it was Churchill and Roosevelt who approved a vicious, vindictive scheme which, when it became known to the German people, stiffened their resistance, prolonged the war, cost tens of thousands of lives, and permitted Soviet Russia to upset the balance of Europe and endanger the safety of civilization.

THE POSTHUMOUS but sinister fame of Harry Dexter White rests upon that tragic result.

His injury to all of us was greater than anything which was achieved by Alger Hiss, even if we leave out all the other matters in which he had a part, such as the narrowing of our aid to Nationalist China and the help that gave to Communism in the Orient.

Now, within the week, the malignant name of White is woven into the stories of two other statesmen, former President Truman and President Eisenhower. It is a dramatically significant fact that the relationship of these two men to the White case should again be illustrative of all-too-casual performance of official responsibilities.

IT WOULD have been much, much better if the President in his Armistice Day press conference, when he was asked about the Velde subpoena for Truman and Clark, had stated only that the propriety and necessity of such drastic action by Velde was a matter in which the Congress had responsibility.

He did say that much, but he added that he would not have issued a subpoena and then offered a long and not very clear homily about civil rights.

Then, to make matters worse, Ike indicated that he permitted his attorney general to break the sensation of the month without even acquainting himself with what his subordinate was going to say or with the identity of a man named White.

In doing so, he came perilously close to discrediting his own subordinate in public.

EVEN MORE remarkable was the President's assertion that he didn't know who White was. Most remarkable because White was very well known in the period when the President was Commanding General of the Allied forces in 1944, commander of the occupation forces in Germany in 1945, and chief of staff for three more years.

His duties and concerns in that whole period centered upon Germany and upon the problems related to the future of Germany.

Moreover, John O'Donnel writes in the New York Daily News that "the records of the FBI as made public by Attorney General Herbert Brownell reveal that the FBI has a receipt for the delivery of their famous Commie spy investigation to Gen. Vandenberg (for the attention of Chief of Staff Gen. Eisenhower) on February 26, 1946."

THE FORMER PRESIDENT has, in words and in general behavior, indicated a carelessness and a type of conduct that hardly should win for him the consideration and respect which his successor seems willing to grant him.

His first comment was: "I know nothing about any such FBI report." Then he said that when it was found that "White was disloyal we fired him." This makes most strange the letter written by him, as President, when White resigned.

His use of vulgar expressions and his clowning on the street with the reporters hardly comports with the concept of a person whose former employment puts him above the law.

From first to last, there has been little in this entire episode to encourage respect for government and for those in authority.

There has been much, however, to inspire those who pray for guidance for all those in high places.

The Split in Berlin

By MARK DANA

Since 1948, the Western three-fourths of Berlin, comprising the sectors supervised and occupied by U. S., British and French troops and civilian officials, has had a municipal governmental setup which was friendly to the Allies.

That was natural, of course. At first, the city governmental agencies and officials were rather nominal, as the Allies made all important decision and just about told the German officials what to do and not do. Meanwhile, the Kommandatura—the odd military government high level policy-making agency comprising key executives of the British, French, American and Russian military government officials, died completely when Russia withdrew.

In recent years, the German municipal officials of West Berlin have been kept in line via a coalition of the German political parties. At the head of this coalition was the redoubtable mayor, Dr. Ernst Reuter, but after his death a few weeks ago, the coalition began to crumble.

As of now, the coalition seems to have ended, and the new mayor, Dr. Walther Schreiber, is hurt by a break-away from an alliance with Dr. Konrad Adenauer, president of the West German Republic (which includes West Berlin, even though all of Berlin lies wholly within the Russia-occupied zone of Germany).

The Social Democrats have withdrawn their support from the mayor and can cause serious trouble. Dr. Schreiber still controls his own Christian Democratic Union and is backed by the Free Democratic Party—but the opposition Social Democrats are the strongest party in West Berlin, and this party two months ago came near to defeating Adenauer as chancellor.

The Social Democrats insist they are anti-Communist. Yet this break will comfort the Communists. The Communist influence in all of Berlin based largely on fear, is quite strong. Perhaps the Social Democrats are just playing safe, or favor more appeasement with the Russian and German Communists in the East sector of the beleaguered city. After all, Germans are realists by tradition, and have a right to feel doleful about progress in re-unifying their country.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Pardon the Confusion

"I don't recall ever hearing of Benedict Arnold. I have no recollection of any reports regarding him," said General George Washington. "But he had been reported as going over to the enemy, selling West Point and boarding the British flagship," we said.

"No comment at this time," replied Washington: "Let's not get hysterical." We then contacted Lafayette who was on the scene at the time, acting as Gen. Washington's aide.

"This is all a surprise to me," he declared. "What did you say the name was Arnold? If I ever heard about him it has slipped my memory. (At this point our editor shook us and reminded us that this was the year 1953, not 1780.

We snapped out of it, threw off our cloak of confusion, put our heads back on straight and got back to the present day situation.)

Now that our grogginess has disappeared, what went on in Washington, D. C., the past eight years anyhow? Could it be that what the country needs most is a good memory test?

If the police called on you and warned you that there was a firebug on the premises who was hired to set fire to your home, wouldn't you remember it vividly to the end of time? Wouldn't it have impressed you a little more than a routine incident? Would you have promoted the guy to a position in charge of the matches and gasoline? If you decided to give him the heave-ho would you have said, "I do this with regret and reluctance?" Huh?

There was a time in American history when the naming of a spy made a big dent on our leaders' memories. Even a hint of a baddie around the works stuck in the mind. (They used to search clear down into the boots and socks of suspected enemy agents, if our history is correct.)

Wha' hoppen? What's come over the U.S.A. on the upper levels? (We pause for a reply and expect a charge we are playing politics.) Yes, we all have moments of poor memories. But does Joe Doakes forget items that could mean the difference between life and death, slavery or a free life, war or peace, a happy home or the kids out on the firing line somewhere?

How many GIs with frozen feet in a midwinter of agony can meet a charge of negligence or a failure fully to discharge their duty with a shrug and "I have nothing to say. I've got a poor memory"?

Don't get us wrong, bub. Nobody thinks ex-President Harry S. Truman would give a spy the right time. That he is anything but a 100 per cent loyal American there is no doubt.

The same goes for most of the top leaders of yesterday named as getting reports from the FBI on a Russian agent coiled in the flag and who now flabbergast citizens by saying they don't remember. Okay.

So what went on in Washington? Was there somebody or some group capable of throwing the President off the trail? Was there an official Shoulder - Shrugger around the premises? Somewhere in the woodpile was there a Secretary of Hush-Hushery and Belittlement?

As shocked as they are, most people think there must have been forces at work keeping Harry at the piano when the situation called for his blowing his stack, making with the sirens and wielding the hatchet right and left.

Anything wrong with getting to the bottom of it all. This is no ping-pong game. It's a battle between slavery and the free world, a fight for civilization, a struggle to preserve The United States of America, isn't it? (Or would you rather not answer on the ground of a poor memory?)

Nothing that you saw in the wildest Fairbanks' exploits in early movies was harder to believe than the actual exploits of the late King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia . . . With five men he once scaled the city walls, reached the governor's house over the roof tops and cut down everybody on the premises with scimitars and daggers ultimately taking over the country . . And we used to think Hollywood stretched things!

A planning commission proposes to change zones in New York so that the honky-tonk, midway and cheap carnival mood will be lifted from Times Square. It's a good trick, even if they don't do it. What's happened to Times Square in the last two decades shouldn't happen to a dog.

Protects Department's Effectiveness

Head of FBI Avoids Political Brawls

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. Edgar Hoover, the man who hasn't been heard from directly, could supply missing links in the Harry Dexter White case unless Atty. Gen. Brownell does it today.

Brownell had an afternoon date with the Senate's internal security subcommittee, which is investigating his charge that in 1946 former President Truman knew White was a spy for Russia but promoted him, White died in 1948.

The former President, in a television-radio talk to the country last night, called Brownell's charge a deliberate lie for political purposes and gave this explanation.

In 1946, the FBI, headed by Hoover, sent him a long report containing accusations that White, then assistant secretary of the Treasury, was part of a Russian espionage ring.

Truman had just named White to another job — with the International Monetary Fund — and in spite of the FBI report he said he let White have the job after deciding the FBI should have more time to find proof, or disproof, on White and others accused of being part of an espionage ring among government employes.

Truman said he had made his decision after Fred M. Vinson, then Treasury secretary and White's boss, and Tom C. Clark then attorney general and Hoover's superior, talked with "other government officials." Vinson, now dead, later became chief justice of the United States.

Clark, now a Supreme Court justice, has refused a subpoena of the House Un-American Activities Committee although he said he would consider answering written questions.

That raises a question: can't some of those "other government officials" mentioned by Truman explain what they know? Truman didn't name them, but it has been reported that FBI Director Hoover was one of them.

He could talk, if a congressional committee called him. Brownell might make it unnecessary for Hoover to say anything.

The FBI boss has carefully stayed out of political brawls, an unusual achievement which, together with the FBI's brilliant record, accounts for his keeping his job so long.

But his agency has never been dragged into a dispute like this before. Actually, forcing him to testify might injure the effectiveness of FBI operations.

Nevertheless, it's his present boss, Brownell, who started the dispute and unless Brownell can answer clearly some of the questions still unanswered there may be points forever left hanging.

For example: Did Hoover think it a good idea to keep White or any others in government service after he had made his report on their alleged spying?

Did Hoover ask that they be kept on so he'd have more time to investigate and tighten the ring around them? Or, did he recommend getting rid of White and others at once as a menace to the country?

If he wanted to get rid of them but Truman decided to keep them so they could be investigated further, then Truman went against the opinion of the man most directly responsible for protecting the country against spies.

And — this is a point not mentioned in the heat of the dispute about the FBI report on White in 1946 — just when did the FBI begin watching White and reporting on him?

Just twice — late in 1945 and early in 1946? Or had the FBI been checking and reporting on him for years?

Phone Call Ruins Attempt of Bandits In Upper Robbery

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY—A phone call at the right time apparently frightened two armed and masked would-be bandits at the Sheldrick Manufacturing Co. here Saturday night.

The pair had bound and gagged Karl Koehler, plant night watchman, and gone into the stock room where they gathered together a quantity of standard cutting tools, all made at the plant.

The phone call from a plant foreman phoning to give Koehler instructions about several of the machines was answered by C. A. Kruse, plant superintendent who was working in the front office. When the telephone in the office rang, the would-be thieves dropped the tools and escaped.

Wyandot County Sheriff Dean McAllister said the pair either fled on foot or had their auto parked some distance away because neither Koehler or Kruse heard an auto outside the plant.

It is believed that the two entered the plant through a rear door while Koehler was wheeling out waste materials and that they were waiting for him when he returned. Koehler said he told the pair that all he had on his person was some change. They told him they did not want money, he said.

Deputies and company officials made a check of the plant Sunday but found nothing missing, Sheriff McAllister said.

Strikers Clash In Columbus, 9 Reported Hurt

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Nine persons reportedly suffered minor injuries this morning in a series of violent incidents in the vicinity of the huge strike-bound North American Aviation, Inc., plant here.

Eight city and county police cars were sent to the scene before order was restored.

The Columbus Dispatch said 20 to 50 strikers massed at several plant gates and stoned some cars. Police refused to estimate the number of persons at the plant gates.

The trouble came only a couple of hours before the union, the CIO United Auto Workers, Local 927, was to appear in Franklin County Common Pleas Court to show cause why it should not be cited for contempt for violation of a picket-limiting order issued Oct. 23, the day the strike started over the issue of wages. The order limited pickets to four at main entrances and two smaller entrances.

The Dispatch quoted James L. Krupp of Columbus, whom it identified as a striker, as declaring the massing of strength at the plant's main gates was done "without knowledge of union headquarters. It was our own idea. We deliberately stayed away from union headquarters. If they keep going into the plant, we're doing to lose this strike."

The company in recent days has reported progressive success of a back-to-work movement among unionists, who originally numbered about 12,500. The union has called company claims "fantastic."

Krupp exhibited a gashed hand and told reporters he was cut by a returning employe who pulled a knife on him.

In another incident, Mrs. Helen W. Martin, 46, of Hilliards, a company employe, suffered minor injuries when her auto struck three logs lying in a street near the plant's property line.

Company spokesmen declined to release names of others injured in the morning's incidents.

A Dispatch reporter said he witnessed one altercation between men massed at one gate and a worker attempting to enter the plant. He said about 15 men gathered around the worker's car and in a melee which followed a rear window was smashed.

THREE DIE IN EXPLOSION AND FIRE. A baby and two women died and two others were seriously injured when an explosion followed by fire destroyed the Gilbert Weiss home in Appleton, Wis. This picture, taken minutes after the explosion, shows how walls were blasted in four directions, causing roof to cave in. Bodies of Mrs. Weiss, 33, Mrs. Elmer Marx, 32, and Mrs. Marx' daughter, Barbara, 2, were recovered from the ruins several hours later. Mr. Weiss and Mr. Marx, who were welding playground equipment outside the home, were hospitalized. Cause of the blast was not immediately determined.

Hitch Hiker Held For Erie Slaying

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Dist. Atty. D. J. McLaughlin said today a 31-year-old hitch hiker has been arrested in the death of George Harrington, 70, of Lakeville, Ohio, whose partially burned body was found stuffed in the trunk of his auto.

McLaughlin said Keith L. Magee of Conneaut, Ohio, signed a statement admitting he beat Harrington and set fire to him Saturday night after a drinking bout in taverns along Rt. 20.

The body of the retired boat engineer was found Saturday night after firemen were called to extinguish an auto fire.

McLaughlin said a murder charge will be filed against Magee.

Truman

could have served both purposes."

He admitted an error in a previous statement made after Brownell issued his charges. Then Truman declared that, as soon as he learned White was "wrong," he fired him by allowing him to resign.

Says Secrecy Vital

"Although my recent offhand comment concerning his resignation was in error," he said last night, "the fact is that he was separated from government service promptly when the necessity for secrecy concerning the intensive investigation by the FBI came to an end."

White had been assistant secretary of the Treasury. The Brownell charges revolved around his promotion to the post of U. S. member of the Board of Directors of the International Monetary Fund, a promotion Brownell said was approved after the White House received allegations of disloyalty against White.

In describing the White case, Truman said a lengthy FBI report on "certain accusations of espionage" reached the White House in December 1945.

"Among the many names mentioned, I now find, was that of Harry Dexter White, who had been in the Treasury Department for many years and who was at that time an assistant secretary of the Treasury," he said.

Received in February

He added that as best he can determine an FBI report "specifically discussing activities of Harry Dexter White was brought to my attention" early in February 1946. He said it was delivered to him by Brig. Gen. Harry Vaughan, his military aide, and also "brought to my personal attention by Secretary of State Byrnes."

Truman said he sent a copy of the report to White's immediate superior, the late Fred Vinson, then secretary of the Treasury. He said he also discussed the matter with Vinson as well as Byrnes.

But that discusion, he related, was not until after the Senate had confirmed White's promotion to the International Monetary Fund.

Many Others Involved

"Secretary of the Treasury Vinson consulted with Atty. Gen. Tom Clark and other government officials," Truman related. "When the results of these consultations were reported to me, the conclusion was reached that the appointment should be allowed to take its normal course. The final responsibility for this decision, of course, was mine. The reason for the decision was that the charges which had been made to the FBI against Mr. White also involved many other persons . . . It was of great importance to the nation that this investigation be continued in order to prove or disprove these charges and to determine if still other persons were implicated."

He said any unusual action in connection with the White appointment "might well have alerted all the persons involved to the fact that the investigation was under way and thus endanger the success of the investigation."

Lashing out at Brownell, he said the attorney general "has degraded the highest function of government — the administration of justice — into cheap political trickery. He made the Justice Department headquarters for political skulduggery. The attorney general of the United States has not only degraded his office, he has deceived his chief as to what he proposed to do, and in saying 'Harry Dexter White was known to be a Communist spy by the very people who appointed him' lied to the American people.

"In backing away again from this charge with the mealy-mouthed statement that he had no intention of impugning the loyalty of any high official of the prior administration, he lied to the American people again."

At one point in his speech, Truman said the "wild imputations of disloyalty which Mr. Brownell has made" were directed not only at him but against Vinson.

No Mention of FBI

"No man I ever knew was a more patriotic American," Truman said, adding that "I deeply resent these cowardly insinuations against one who is dead."

Truman made no mention by name of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, a fact noted by Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich). Ferguson accused the former President of letting it "leak out" before the speech that the FBI director had been in on the agreement to keep White in the government while the investigation continued.

But in the speech, the Michigan senator said, "he doesn't combine Hoover with any of the people he consulted. . . . He leaves that to the imagination."

Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) chairman of the internal security committee before which Brownell will appear today, said the body intended to make a complete record in the White case and "let Congress and the American people know what the true facts are."

On the Democratic side of the Senate, Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) said he thought Truman had "laid to rest whatever doubts may have resulted from the spurious Brownell charge." He said he thought "an apology from Mr. Brownell would be most appropriate."

Last-Moment Telephone Call Ignored by Truman

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A hush fell over the studio. Technicians made their final adjustments. It was a scant two minutes before Harry Truman was to begin his nationwide television and radio speech on the Harry Dexter White case last night.

Over the public address system came the voice of the studio receptionist:

"Mr. Truman, telephone—long distance."

The former President did not answer.

4-Vehicle Crash Fatal To Five Near Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Four men and a woman perished in the flaming collision of a big trailer truck and three autos at an intersection in suburban Wilkinsburg yesterday. Three other persons were injured.

Police, firemen and workmen labored for more than three hours to extricate the bodies from the tangled wreckage, described by Coroner William D. McClelland of Allegheny County as the "worst I have ever seen."

Only the body of the woman remained unidentified. Others killed were William Rivers of Orlando, Fla., driver of the truck; William Smith, 30, and Frank Theis, 35, both of Pittsburgh, and Everett L. Jones, Sidney, Ill., a passenger in the truck.

Kidnaping

slaying Sept. 28.

"I wanted to stay drunk so that my conscience wouldn't bother me," the confession read.

Her mouth twitched at that point.

The confession related how Bobby, abducted by Mrs. Heady from a private Catholic school on the ruse she was his aunt, accompanied her and Hall willingly in their car to a wheat field across the line in Kansas.

There, off a lonely road, was the spot Hall and Mrs. Heady chose to kill the boy.

Bobby had noticed some hedge balls and had mentioned them to Mrs. Heady.

"Inasmuch as I knew this was the place where Carl was going to murder the victim, I did not want to be present to witness the actual murdering, so I told Bobby I would get him some hedge balls."

When Hall stopped Mrs. Heady's blue station wagon, he got out and dropped the tailgate. Then he spread a blue plastic sheet in the rear.

Hears Shots

Mrs. Heady's confession said she had walked only about 75 or 100 feet when she heard two shots.

"I then realized Carl had actually killed the victim by shooting him, although it originally was planned that he would strangle him with a small piece of rope he had in the station wagon," her confession read.

"As I approached the station wagon, Carl was wrapping Bobby in a piece of blue plastic on the ground behind the station wagon.

"After he completed wrapping up the body, I helped Carl lift the body into the station wagon . . .

"At this time I noticed that Carl had blood on his face, coat, hands and arms. I helped him take off his coat, which we folded inside out and placed it in the back of the station wagon and then Carl rolled up the sleeves of his shirt because they also were covered with blood.

Wipes Off Blood

"I then took out some Kleenex and wiped off Carl's face and hands, removing as much blood as I possibly could . . . .

"I recall asking Carl at that point why he shot the victim and he told me he tried to strangle him but the cord was too short . . . and since the boy started to struggle and fight he had to dispose of him by shooting."

The confession told how the couple stopped at a tavern for drinks on the way to Mrs. Heady's St. Joseph, Mo., home where a grave had been dug for the body the day before.

Mrs. Heady said they had decided the day before the kidnaping that little Bobby had to be killed to shield them from possible identification.

The confession brought out that the couple had attempted to kidnap Bobby's 11-year-old sister, Virginia Sue, last September. It said Hall and Mrs. Heady had followed Virginia Sue and her mother to the Country Club Plaza, a fashionable suburban shopping district not far from the Greenlease home. There Mrs. Greenlease went into a store while Virginia Sue stayed in their Cadillac.

Child Flees

Mrs. Heady's confession related Hall had gone to the Greenlease car but that Virginia Sue suddenly jumped out of it and ran down the street, causing him to abandon plans to kidnap her then.

The Greenlease family last night said they could not recall the incident.

Mrs. Heady said she stayed drunk most of the time after the kidnap-slaying and had only a vague recollection of accompanying Hall to a bridge near Kansas City the night of Oct. 5 where the ex-convict picked up the $600,000 ransom.

FOUNDATIONS GO FANCY

NEW YORK (UP) — The corset industry is following the "fancy pants" designers in the trend toward more color. Lingerie designers hint they too will produce fancier wear. One manufacturer is featuring leopard-print briefs.

Four Accidents Occur in City, County Traffic

Four minor accidents in the city and county were reportel this morning by police and the Marion station of the state highway patrol. There were no injuries.

City police investigated three of the accidents.

A car driven by Marion R. Barkley, 27, of near Marion, was slightly damaged in a collision at 12:07 p.m. yesterday on S. State St., just south of E. Church St.

The accident occurred when Barkley, who was northbound was struck in the rear by a car driven by Minnie Lichtenberger, 59, of near Waldo, which was just pulling out of a parking place, police reported.

Minnie Lichtenberger was arrested for failure to yield the right of way and posted bond for appearance in Municipal Court Thursday.

Minor damage resulted to cars driven by Orland Eugene Dugan, 23, 571 Herman St., and Morten Duffy, 59, of near Marion, in a collision at 366 W. Center St. at 4:30 p.m. yesterday.

A car diven by Lawrence E. Cornelius, 17, of 364½ S. Prospect St., was damaged on the left side and left rear when it collided with a car driven by Samuel W. Fryman Jr., 20, of near Cardington, on David St., just south of Bellefontaine Ave., at 8:04 p.m. yesterday. Fryman's car was damaged slightly.

Patrol Lists Accident

One minor accident in Marion County was reported today by the Marion post of the state patrol. The driver of one of the cars was arrested and cited to answer a charge of failing to stop after an accident.

The accident happened Monday evening at 5:10 on State Route 95 about one-half mile east of LaRue. The left front fender of a car driven by Purdie Pendleton, 76, of LaRue and going east collided with the left rear door, fender, and panel of a car diven by Carlos H. Derringer, 29, also of LaRue, which was westbound.

Patrol reports show minor damage was done to both cars. Pendleton was cited to appear in Municipal Court Saturday to answer the charge.

CIO

Reuther displayed some irritation yesterday in his keynote convention speech at recent remarks of AFL President George Meany, although Reuther said he had confidence in Meany and the AFL leadership.

Meany recently was quoted as saying the CIO was formed by AFL leaders to foster political ideas and throw their weight around in national politics.

Reuther, somewhat angrily, said Meany's memory "failed him badly" because the CIO was formed out of the AFL in 1935 to organize the mass production industries. Reuther said the AFL was unwilling to undertake this job at the time.

Chester Bowles, former ambassador to India and Truman administration official, told the CIO convention today Congress ought to enact stronger "full employment" legislation to guard against a possible economic depression.

Bowles said in remarks prepared for the convention that "a depression in today's explosive world would be no less than catastrophic." He said Congress passed a bill in 1945 designed to support employment by government public works aid but it was inadequate.

"Is it too much to ask that our next Congress help put an end to these fears (of losing jobs) by enacting the broad, practical, full employment legislation which was amended to death by the timid men in 1945?" Bowles asked.

"Let us have a full employment act with teeth and meaning in it."

Touring Congressmen Leave Japan for Manila

TOKYO — A three-man U. S. House of Representatives subcommittee studying American buildings overseas left today for Manila after inspecting U.S. facilities in Japan.

The members are Reps. Prince Preston (D-Ga.), Sam Coon (R-Ore.) and Frank T. Bow (R-Ohio).

From Manila they will fly to Honolulu. They are scheduled to return to Washington late this month.

Minister Just Can't Get Over Liking Trains

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (UP) — Rev. David B. Russell, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church here, is called the "Railroad Preacher" and rightly so.

His favorite off-hour and en-route-to-conference pastime is riding on as many trains belonging to as many of the 600 different U. S. railroads as he can.

So far he has covered 37,000 unduplicated miles on railroads belonging to 126 different railroad companies in all 48 states.

Asked how he got interested in his hobby, the Rev. Russell replied:

"Most boys like trains, and I guess I never got over it."

Chamber

status quo until such time as the west has a favorable "balance of power."

—:—

IN THE LONG RUN, compromise will be the final solution but Russia's ruthlessness in her dreams of world conquest keep this path to world peace closed at present, he believes.

We only obtained a truce in Korea because all Russian demands, with exception of the prisoner exchange issue, were agreed to, he claimed. In effect this indicated defeat of the U. N. forces in the war, he added.

THE SECOND SOLUTION of an attempted decision by war would lead to terrible results with neither side ever able to win a victory. "We can safely assume that because of the element of retaliation neither the A-bomb nor the H-bomb will ever be used in a future war," he said. At the same time invasion by either side will be impossible because of the existence of these weapons. They would be ideal for destroying the huge concentrations necessary in modern warfare before an invasion could begin, he explained.

Looking to history, he noted that there were two notable times when long periods of peace existed. This was when Rome was world leader and later when England took over this role. These leaders fell only after they became weak and allowed a ruthless aggressor to gain a favorable balance of power, he said.

OUR GOVERNMENT has now come to accept the "balance of power" idea, he said. He noted we are presently attempting to build blocs around Russia and her satellites.

Warning that French Indo-China is the key to Southeast Asia bloc, he added that if the French ever pull their troops out of this country, we can fully expect to see American troops rushed in to prevent the communists gaining control.

The only way to destroy communism is with a better concept, he declared. We believe democracy is a better concept, but attempt to present it to starving peoples on an abstract basis, he said. Russia takes a more practical viewpoint and promises hungry, starving people food if they will embrace communism.

WE MUST SIMPLIFY our approach, he said. This means we must tell starving people in the world that communism means political slavery, democracy means political freedom. Even then they will not accept our concept of democracy if they are starving, he added.

To overcome this we must permit them to earn "dollars" to provide themselves with food. This means full adoption of the "Trade, Not Aid," concept, in which most or all tarrifs would be dropped. This would hurt some of our producers because of foreign competition in home markets, but additional exports would more than make up the loss, he said.

THERE IS NO reason why free men cannot hold their own until such time as Russia realizes her dreams of world conquest can only lead to her own destruction, he concluded.

The program began with the singing of "America" led by Don A. Howard with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Henry Mickley. Prior to Captain Fielding's talk, Mrs. Robert Waldbauer, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. George Lane, presented two vocal numbers.

Special guests introduced were Mr. and Mrs. Ward C. Case of the W. Lyman Case Co. of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barnhill of the Transmission Specialty Co., now in the process of starting a new plant on W. Center St., and William Flack, president of the JayCees and Mrs. Flack.

Officers of the coming year introduced were Edgar W. Barnhart, president, Francis B. Huber, and Philip E. Guthery, vice presidents; L. Odell Thompson, treasurer, and W. Kenneth Tobin, assistant treasurer. New members of the board of directors are Walter Axthelm, E. L. Mitchell, and John J. Rankin.

Discovery Aids Chance Of Newly-Born Calves

CHICAGO (UP)—A discovery by veterinary scientists to help control one of the most serious disease threats to new-born calves is reported in the Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association.

The report said that a combination of dried cattle serum, vitamin K and pre-digested milk solids has proved effective in controlling scours, which kills many new-born calves.

The serum provides a high concentration of gamma globulin, which helps prevent infection, the report said. Vitamin K fortifies the new-born calf against hemorrhage, and the milk solids provide early nourishment.

Brownell

in the White case there remained unanswered questions as to why he had labeled congressional probes as "red herrings."

Raises Question

Ferguson raised the question, not mentioned by Truman, of the latter's laudatory letters to White when White was preparing to transfer from the Treasury to the international fund, and when he left the fund in 1947.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said he had often disagreed with Truman "but I have never questioned his loyalty to his country."

McClellan, a member, said it will be up to Brownell to prove before the Senate committee "his position that White was promoted when President Truman knew he was a spy."

"Unless he can show that, I think maybe the public will feel that President Truman acted in good faith," McClellan said.

Chairman Jenner (R-Ind) of the Senate internal security subcommittee said that group is "interested only in fact and is not concerned with political byplay."

Seek Complete Record

"We intend to make a complete record in the White case . . . and let Congress and the American people be the judge of what the true facts are," he said.

Rep. Moulder (D-Mo), a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee, said Truman had given a "crysal-clear statement of the facts and an answer to the scurrilous and insulting political smear against him and the Democratic party."

Rep. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio) took up Truman's admission that he had made an error when he said originally that White was "fired" when he was found to be wrong.

"There are many people who think Mr. Truman made many other mistakes, including the coddling of Communists by his administration and his reluctance to believe that Alger Hiss could not be trusted," Brown declared.

Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, assistant House Democratic leader, retorted in a separate interview that Truman had exposed "the below-the-belt conspiracy of Brownell and others."

Claims FBI Hurt

"Brownell made use of confidential FBI reports for political purposes, McCormack declared. "If he can use one FBI report for political purposes he can use another, and the sources of FBI information will be dried up."

Rep. Clardy (R-Mich), a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee, said in Philadelphia the Truman administration had "quashed" an indictment against White by a federal grand jury sitting in New York in 1947.

The former President avoided any derogatory mention of Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, once Truman's secretary of state and now a political foe.

It was Byrnes who first said in a statement—after Truman had said he did not recall any FBI report on White—that he discussed such a report with the former President at the White House on Feb. 6, 1946. This was the day White's monetary fund appointment was confirmed by the Senate. Truman confirmed this account.

Chairman Velde (R-Ill) of the Un-American Activities Committee announced in Philadelphia that a three-member subcommittee will question Byrnes about the White case in Columbia, S. C., late this month.

He named Clardy as chairman and Representatives Gordon H. Scherer (R—Ohio) and Moulder as members.

Novelist To Sign Copies of His Book

James Gerald Craven, Marion author of "MY CRIS," will appear at Wiant's Book Store Friday from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. for the purpose of meeting readers and autographing copies of the book.

"My Cris" is the story of two young people caught in the throes of parental objections, war and many of the events and experiences encountered at Harding High School by the author.

Mr. Craven attended Harding High school where he graduated in the class of 1941. He lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craven of 1039 Cheney Ave. and is presently employed at the Marion Engineer Depot. His novel was published by Exposition Press Inc., of New York.

Hydrogen Atoms Check Use of Food by Body

CHICAGO (UP)—University of Chicago scientists use heavy hydrogen atoms as "tracers" to see how the body makes use of foodstuffs.

The scientists put atoms of heavy hydrogen, or deuterium, in alcohol which is broken down by body chemicals in much the same way ordinary foods are.

Frank O. Loewus, research associate at the university's department of biochemistry, told about the process at a meeting of the American Institute of Biological Sciences.

In the first chemical breakdown of the alcohol-oxidation, the hydrogen atoms are handed from one molecule to another like batons in a relay race, the scientists reported.

This transfer is done with the help of enzymes. In test tube studies the scientists used purified enzymes from yeast and heart muscle.

A FORMER NEWSPAPERBOY HAS AN ADVANTAGE OVER OTHER YOUNG MEN

A former newspaperboy has an advantage over other young men in applying for a position because he has had early business training.

He has already learned through actual experience how to meet people and get along with them. He has gained practical sales and service experience; how to buy, sell, collect and make regular payments for his merchandise (newspapers); how to save part of his profits each week.

Yes, any boy who has had newspaper route experience has an advantage over other young men when they graduate; he has had the traditional American FIRST STEP in business training.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

A debate is continuous among military men concerning the effect of new weapons and new means of war upon the organization and size of military establishments

SOKOLSKY

Some of it comes into the open, often in confusing contradictions.

Without expressing an opinion in a field in which I am no wiser than the next man, let me summarize the situation:

1—The new weapons are destructive beyond anything ever known before. Atom and hydrogen (thermo-nuclear) bombs and devices cannot be limited to use against soldiers; if employed, combatants and non-combatants, men, women, children and domestic animals are damaged or killed. Soldiers are not to be taken prisoners, but an area is to be devastated.

2—THE QUESTION then arises as to the purpose of infantry and its size. If the principal weapons, the bombs, are deliverable principally by air, what purpose is served by huge armies on foot, ranking into millions of men?

Why is a conscript army needed in the face of the bombs and guided missiles? Of what value is universal military service, involving marching, drilling and boot camp training, if wars are to be fought by scientists, electricians, electronists, and fliers?

The answers are many and on both sides of the question.

The infantryman says that no matter what weapons are used, an area has to be occupied if a war is to be won. The occupying force is the infantry; therefore a conscript army is needed.

THE OPPOSITION answers that that was true before the first bomb was hurled at Hiroshima, that no longer can an occupying force take over an atom-bomb devastated area because immediately there will be nothing to take over.

Eventually, there may be much to reconstruct, a task for specialists, not for conscripts.

3—Such conquerors as Alexander, Caesar and Genghis Khan needed to mobilize, provision and move veritable hordes of human beings on land or water, requiring a constant protection of the lines of supply and communication.

The new weapons are mostly deliverable by air. The lines of communication are radio and radar. The supply comes from enormous factories, most of which must be underground.

THE QUESTION then arises, what size infantry will be required to guard these supplies and the bases where they are produced?

The extremists on one side insist that the numbers will be negligible; the extremists on the other side say that until there is better experience, nothing should be risked by the reduction of infantry.

4—The weapon of infiltration has been developed only by Soviet Russia. The United States does not know how to use this weapon. In a word, infiltration is a method by which war is made permanent.

Infiltration is a process for the penetration of a government and [illegible] the institutions of its people by the agents of an enemy with the object of capturing that country without utilizing the orthodox means of war.

AGAINST INFILTRATION, soldiers are of no avail. It is a subtle device in which natives are employed against ther own country, usually within the limitations of their own laws.

The defenses against infiltration in the United States are the use of police powers by the FBI, and the procedures of congressional committees. Our existing laws have already proved inadequate.

Infiltration does not involve a struggle over ideas. It is a device to destroy a country's capacity to defend itself in peace or in war. The theft of the atom bomb and radar defenses was made possible by infiltration as an act of permanent war.

IN THE CLOSED session hearings of some of the congressional committees, it has become clear that highly skilled officers trained for orthodox warfare have no conception of this new method, have no knowledge of its use or the defenses against it. Such knowledge may exist in the CIA, but of that I do not know.

5—The use of propaganda to accomplish the objectives of a war without fighting requires no infantry.

In the developing stages of this weapon, psychological warfare is an instrument which is more effectively employed by a totalitarian than a free nation.

SUCH A COUNTRY as Guatemala is an index to its effectiveness.

Only the Russians have most competently developed infiltration, as the United States is most [illegible] proficient in the use of fissionable materials.

Out of this discussion, heard over the years, may come a reduction of the size of the foot army and a revision of views concerning conscription.

Some Higher, Others Lower

New Driver Insurance Rates in Effect

New automobile insurance rates went into effect Monday for many drivers in Ohio.

The rates are higher in some cases, but lower in others.

The new rates resulted from a change in the classification system of the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters.

Formerly, auto owners were placed in three general classifications, according to the use of their automobiles. Now there are seven classifications. The rate changes under the new system range from a reduction of $5 a year to an increase of $20 for the basic insurance protection required by law.

OWNERS OF CARS which are not driven by anyone under 25 and are not driven to work will save $5. But rates for persons under 25 who are not married and are not driving under parental supervision will be $19 more.

Not only are insurance rates determined by the age of the driver and use of the vehicle, but the location of the driver as well. Persons in highly populated areas where accidents are more frequent are charged more for insurance protection. The state is divided into a number of territories by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters. Rates vary from one district to the next.

THE CITY OF MARION and an area extending five miles beyond the city is included in Territory 17. The rest of the county is in Territory 23, where the rates are slightly lower.

The new classifications are:

1-A, Persons over 25 who do not drive their cars to work.

1-B, Persons over 25 who drive less than 10 miles one way to work each day.

1-C, Persons over 25 who drive more than 10 miles to work.

Charter Group Discusses City Government Forms

A preliminary discussion of the best type of government for the city of Marion was held at the second meeting of the Marion city charter commission Monday night at the YMCA.

A brief discussion of the three possible types of government was presented by Miss Edith Brown, secretary of the commission.

Before her presentation, the group voted unanimously to employ Mrs. W. Dexter Hazen of Marion, who is court recorder for Wyandot County, as the stenographer of the meetings.

MRS. HAZEN will be responsible for taking minutes and sending copies of those minutes to each member of the commission before the beginning of the following week's meeting. She will begin her job next Monday night.

A request to the League of Women Voters to solicate funds for the operating expenses of the commission was made.

Members suggested the League contact various service and professional clubs in the city in an effort to raise $500 which is estimated to be the amount needed for operating expenses.

They pointed out it would take some $350 or more to pay the expenses of Mrs. Hazen, who was hired at a rate of $12.50 per week.

IN THE DISCUSSION of three types of city government, the commission was given the outline, the commission form, the mayor-council form, and the city manager form of government work. Members decided to try to determine the best type for Marion as soon as possible, to permit them to begin actual work on drawing up the charter.

Miss Brown and several other members of the group pointed out, from a preliminary study of the question, there was no perfect type of government, that each has its drawbacks, and only by careful and complete study will the best type be obtained.

IN OTHER ACTION Monday night, the commission:

Received copies of the charters of the city of Springfield and the village of Indian Hill. These were taken home by members for study and possible use in framing a charter for Marion.

Received a preliminary preamble to the charter from chairman Walter D. Moore. Moore explained he had drawn up the preamble from the charters of Sandusky, Cleveland Heights, Delaware, and Middletown. No action was taken on the matter. Copies were given to members for study.

Voted to make the action of a majority of members present, rather than a majority of the entire elected commission, sufficient for adoption of a measure.

Appointed Mrs. Mary K. Birch to compile a scrapbook of all publicity given to the commission.

VOTED TO PROHIBIT any comments from the public audience at meetings, unless such comment was asked for by a member of the commission through the chair.

Appointed a drafting committee to draw up a tentative legal draft of statements to be referred to the commission. Henry Mickley was appointed chairman, with the option of seeking advice from attorneys Harry Dowler and Louis Conkle. Purpose of the move was to avoid any legal loopholes in the finished measures.

Appointed Carl F. Haberman as chairman of a compilation committee which will keep a running account of the entire charter as it is framed. Haberman was given the right to choose any members of the commission to assist him in his work.

Authorized Miss Brown to pay any incidental service charges which might be required in the obtaining of copies of the charters of other cities in the state.

JUDGE LEAVES NO WILL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Although he had spent considerable time in recent years deciding intricate estate cases, the late Judge John R. King of the Franklin County Common Pleas Court left no will for disposal of his own estate. Probate Court said yesterday. Judge King left $30,050, most of it in real estate.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Secret government data, so carefully classified that it was withheld from Congress and made available only to the White House and the Cabinet, has been systematically passed on to Soviet intelligence officers since 1939 by the Harry Dexter White espionage ring.

RIESEL

This network operated through carefully planted American Communist operatives. They were placed on the most secretive government super-committees assigned to develop and coordinate all U.S. military and foreign policies.

Thus, the Stalinist Politburo in Moscow was well informed of our plans — while these stratagems were yet in the discussion stage.

THE RUSSIANS knew what we were thinking almost as fast as our top executives expressed themselves.

Thus, the Russians knew of the existence of secret committees which were unknown, not only to our people, but even to some Cabinet members.

These committees were interlocking. Each had representation from all important departments—especially during the war.

Thus, no facet of our government was unavailable to the Soviet agents sitting on many of these groups.

It must be pointed out that these spies sat side by side with unsuspecting American officials and civilian experts.

Some of these civilian experts were among the leading anti-communists of the nation — including ex-assistant secretary of state, A. A. Berle, CIO president Walter Reuther, Nelson Rockefeller, Myron C. Taylor, Hamilton Fish Armstrong and scores of others who, of course, had not the slightest idea that agents of a foreign power were sitting across the table.

THE TRAGEDY is that those in the White House who had the FBI and the Civil Service Commission security files available did, indeed, ignore them.

Result was that this ring of foreign agents first systematically took over much of the "secretariat" work of these vital committees.

Then they captured the research posts. That did it. After all, in order to prepare policy papers the committees had to have access to the facts — which were in thousands of classified and secret reports, memoranda and intelligence information of the most globe-shaking nature.

If it weren't tragically etched in world history and hadn't helped spill the blood of thousands of young American boys, the audacity of the spy ring would make entertaining reading for some movie script people seeking material.

FOR EXAMPLE, there was the Interdepartmental Committee to Consider Post-War International Economic Problems and Policies.

This was all-mighty in our government. On it were representatives of only three top federal divisions — The Executive Office of the President, the State Department and the Treasury Department. And let it be known now that the Treasury Department sent three men to sit in these high level talks — and all three were spies.

They were W. L. Ullman, Harry Dexter White and V. Frank Coe.

From the State Department came two men. One of them, a Communist, has since recanted, so I won't finger him here. From the office of the President of the U.S. came another mentioned in investigatory reports.

HIS NAME will be raised in the coming trial of Owen Lattimore. I do not want to prejudice that case; so I won't list him either. But the record will show that, of the seven-man committee, three were spies and two were Communists.

There were other committees on which White and his colleagues sat which were almost as important for they made top-level decisions on war and peace.

Among these were the Advisory Committee on Post-War Foreign Policy, Sub-Committee on Political Problems and the Sub-Committee on Territorial Problems (Alger Hiss).

THEN THERE was created a special three-man cabinet committee. This one was actually created by Harry Dexter White to brief Cabinet members on all that transpired on all other committees. Who was on the Cabinet Committees? Spies Harry Dexter White and V. Frank Coe, of course.

And these were the committees which prepared our policy in an era when we lost China, Northern Korea, most of the Balkan countries, Poland, Hungary, Romania and Czechia to Russia.

Just who was responsible? Who brought these agents in and then assigned, promoted and shielded them?

Hooked

By Laura Hobson

"The Woman Who Wouldn't Talk" is my name for what hit me hardest—and was discussed least—in Sunday's news stories about the gigantic hoax behind Quentin Reynolds' new book, "The Man Who Wouldn't Talk."

HOBSON

I was with Quentin Reynolds himself at the house of his publisher, Bennett Cerf. They kept talking about the man who wouldn't, George Dupre of Canada, and I kept pumping them about the woman who wouldn't, Mr. Dupre's wife Muriel.

Every word they told me about this fantastic case of the man who had fooled half of Canada with his tales of being a spy for the Allies in the French underground during the war, the man who had then fooled the editors of the Reader's Digest, then one of America's leading journalists and Random House who publishes his books, and finally the book critics of two nations — every word made me wonder more about Muriel DuPre who admits, the press dispatches say, "she had known of the fiction since 1946."

I CAN SEE how a wife, whatever her own feelings, would keep mum while her husband told his own friends and neighbors his stories of posing as a halfwit whom the Nazi conquerors couldn't force to talk.

I can even see how she would bite back any denials while he expanded his audiences, as George DuPre did, beyond the neighbors to church meetings and Boy Scout meetings, then to business clubs and lecture groups in his own home city of Calgary, then on and out through Canada until an impressed Toronto citizen told the Reader's Digest that "the greatest adventure story ever told is waiting for you up here."

But what I can't for the life of me understand is how she or any wife could keep silent after a magazine asked an author to set those tales down in the hard cold reality of print.

Could you watch your own husband go that far, without at least warning magazine or author that his story was a fantasy, a psychological quirk that had happened only in his mind?

WHILE REYNOLDS was working with George DuPre in New York, the author phoned Mrs. DuPre twice for added details. To every question, she said, "it's better if George tells you that himself."

After the manuscript was written and officially checked up and down the line, Mr. Reynolds decided to take his finished story to Calgary himself to let the DuPres go over it with him. Muriel DuPre seemed delighted at the news. But when the author arrived after his long trip, no Muriel was there to greet him.

"She took the boys," her husband said, "off to a camp on the west coast for a holiday."

"I'll call her there," Mr. Reynolds said. "I still want some personal touches from her."

"They're way up in the mountains," the answer came at once. "With no phone."

THIS WEEKEND, with the story splashing hot all around him, Mr. Reynolds did reach Muriel DuPre by phone in Calgary.

"I wasn't in the mountains," she told him, "the whole time you were here with George, I was half a mile away from you, right in town. George knew that if I met you, you'd see in my face that something was wrong. Or else, I'd have blurted out the whole turth."

If you have a copy of "The Man Who Wouldn't Talk," open it to the page where Quentin Reynolds wrote his dedication to the DuPre children.

"To David George and Glenn Maurice,

Whose father was a very gentle spy."

Apart from everything else I keep thinking about, I wonder most how Muriel DuPre feels now when she re-reads those warm, trusting lines.

Final Touches Put on Ohio's Road Program

$90 Million Project To Be Spread Over 6,200-Mile Network

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state highway director today put finishing touches on a 90 million dollar road improvement program for the state's major highways for next year.

Director Samuel O. Linzell said he will have the program in the hands of the new state highway construction council either this week or early next week.

The council yesterday formally designated 6,200 miles of existing state roads as major thoroughfares. This was necessary to determine which roads can be improved with new highway revenues plus federal and local matching funds.

"I am pleased the council was able to make a decision on major roads at this time," Linzell said.

Linzell said next year's program which he will submit to the council for action will contain over 100 projects, both big and small, throughout the state.

The major road system runs through all 88 Ohio counties and touches 66 county seats.

Linzell has until Dec. 1 to submit his major roads program, and the council must act on it within 30 days. The council will determine which projects should go ahead.

The new axle-mile tax on trucks and the new penny-a-gallon gasoline tax are expected to supply half the money for the program. The remainder will come from federal matching funds and money put up by local governments—cities and counties.

Listing 6,200 miles as major allotment roads, the council hit upon a figure 200 miles longer than it had tentatively agreed upon before holding public hearings.

After considering demands for more top priority roads, the council added these stretches:

Rt. 13 from New Lexington to Chauncey, Rt. 224 from Ottawa to the Indiana state line, Rt. 7 from Alt. 50 to Bellaire and Rt. 164 from Rt. 62 to Rt. 224.

The council said it added about 100 top priority miles for major thoroughfare access to Ohio Turnpike interchanges.

It said it did not appear much additional mileage was needed near the Pike County atom plant but the plant was given some consideration in deciding to include Rt. 50 from Cincinnati through Chillicothe to Marietta.

In naming main roads the council took into consideration potential growth of various other sections of Ohio. It said:

"There are signs of rising industrial development in (southern and southeastern Ohio) in addition to the atomic project.

"Traffic near Marietta and Steubenville already is high and there are definite indications of rising industrial potential along the route between these cities."

Conferences between the council and state highway department engineers resulted in getting metropolitan by-passes and additions on the major thoroughfare system to accommodate highway and traffic programs of Ohio's largest cities including:

By-pass 50, Rts. 27 and 28 in the Cincinnati area; Rts. 175, 252 and 17 in the Cleveland area; 164 and 90 in the Youngstown district; 48 and 49 in the Dayton area; 93, 94 and 261 in the Akron district; 61 and 62 in the Columbus area, and some mileage at Toledo, mostly in connection with a turnpike interchange and intercity connections.

Two Charged With Larceny In Local Thefts

Harold David Walker, 25, and Ray Martin Coykendall, 18, both of near Marion were to be arraigned in Municipal Court today on charges of grand larceny filed against them yesterday by city police.

Charles P. Wallace, 35, of near Swanton, was fined $200 and costs in Municipal Court this morning when he pleaded guilty to a charge of being a suspicious person unable to give a reasonable account of himself.

The charges against Wallace arose from the same case which resulted in the charges against Walker and Coykendall.

Both Walker and Coykendall were charged with the theft of $125 worth of goods from the Millard Hunt Co. on Nov. 9. Walker was also charged with the theft of $150 worth of goods Oct. 24 from a home being constructed on Chatfield Rd.

The three were arrested by police Saturday and held on open charges for investigation. Their arrest climaxed a three-week investigation by Marion police.

At the time of the arrest, police recovered some $600 worth of stolen goods.

Two policemen went to Swanton with Wallace where part of the loot was found in a rabbit hutch at the rear of Wallace's home near Swanton.

County Youth Arrested On Charge of Auto Theft

A 17-year-old Marion County youth is being held by federal authorities in Milford Conn., where he was apprehended Monday night driving a 1953 automobile he confessed stealing Sunday night from Harold Shields of near Caledonia, Marion sheriff's deputies reported today.

The Milford police department picked him up when they observed his "suspicious" behavior, they told the Marion County sheriff's office this morning.

A check with state authorities revealed the automobile was listed as stolen and upon questioning, the youth confessed the theft. Also found in the automobile were a fur coat and a purse containing approximately $50, which were in the car when taken from the Shields farm.

TWO DRIVERS ARRESTED

Two motorists were stopped by state highway patrolmen from the Marion post Monday. Warren W. Coppes, 38, of Findlay was cited to appear Wednesday in Municipal Court to answer a charge of driving his truck with no mud flaps. Arthur Emerman, 53, of East Cleveland was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Don Healea of Cardington on a charge of passing on a yellow line.

Publisher Sued On West Coast

$5,604,000 Asked; Claim Contract Broken

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The publisher of the Los Angeles Daily News has been sued for $5,604,000 damages on the allegation he broke a contract for sale of the controlling interest in the newspaper.

Sheldon F. Sackett, California and Oregon newspaper publisher and radio station operator, brought the action against Robert L. Smith, charging Smith repudiated an agreement made with Sackett Oct. 24.

Sackett placed a value of five million dollars on the assets he expected to acquire from Smith. A copy of the alleged agreement between Sackett and Smith provided Smith was to be employed by the News in an advisory capacity for seven years at $25,000 a year.

Smith said he had no comment on the suit beyond a statement he made Thursday in announcing cancellation of the proposed deal. At that time he said Sackett's proposal to purchase an interest in the News was conditional upon financial and collateral considerations "which were not complied with by Sackett."

Free Diabetes Test Turns Up Possible Case

Of the Marion County residents who took diabetes detection tests Monday, first day of the week long campaign to find and treat diabetics, one positive test was found.

The preliminary "sugar" test, when found positive, is followed by further investigation to determine if diabetes is present. The detection test may times uncover diabetes in its earliest stages when medical care can bring it under control.

The tests are being given free of charge this week by Marion County physicians who are cooperating in a nation-wide Diabetes Detection Drive Week, sponsored by the American Diabetes Association. Members of the Marion Academy of Medicine have urged residents to report to a physician of their choice for the test.

Dr. Charles Wilson, chairman of the local diabetes detection committee, pointed out that diabetes is a chronic ailment characterized by the inability of the body to convert sugars and starches into energy. Diabetes can be present in the individual for a long time without revealing any alarming symptoms, yet, left untreated, it may grow more serious and in some cases prove fatal.

While diabetes is most likely to appear in persons over 40, many younger persons and even some children may have it, especially if they are members of diabetic families.

Congressmen Will Assist in Draft Program

Republicans Move To Broaden Base of Policy-Making Group

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans moved today to broaden the base of congressional participation in drafting the GOP program President Eisenhower will recommend next year.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) announced after telephone conferences with Rep. Halleck (R-Ind) that chairmen of the regular committees of both houses will be invited to attend White House sessions Dec. 17-19 when subjects in which their groups are interested come up for discussion. Originally it was planned to include only top GOP policy makers of the Senate and House.

Knowland and Halleck are Republican floor leaders of the Senate and House, respectively.

The White House legislative talks, to be conducted by Eisenhower with Cabinet members present, are expected to bring final decisions on most of the major subjects to be covered in the President's annual State of the Union message to Congress.

Knowland said in an interview he hopes that by having both committee chairmen and Republican leaders of both houses sit in, it will be possible for Congress to get to work earlier than usual on legislation.

Although Knowland didn't say so, the move to include the committee chairman was regarded in some quarters as aimed at softening demands for enlargement of the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

Chairman Capehart (R-Ind) of the Senate Banking Committee has said he will seek to have chairmen of all the 15 standing committees made members of the policy group.

Knowland has opposed this proposal on the grounds that it make the present 15-member group "unwieldy."

12 VIOLATE HUNTING LAW

The wildlife council ordered postponment of the season — scheduled to open yesterday — because of the fire hazard increased by extreme dryness. Five arrests were reported in Union County, three in Trumbull County and two each in Ottawa and Athens counties.

Time-Tested Recipe Used by Apple Butter Maker

William Mack of Waldo, Retired Farmer, Has Tried It 60 Years

More than 60 years "cooking down" his own apple butter has never spoiled a 79-year-old Waldo man's taste for the spread.

Known as the "apple butter king" among his friends and neighbors, William F. Mack each year cooks some 90 gallons of the spicy butter in a huge copper kettle hung over a wood fire in his back yard.

"I like apple butter made the old-fashioned way, good and thick so it will keep better," Mack says as he "churns" a batch with a long wooden stirring paddle.

HE MAKES FROM 8 to 15 gallon in each batch and from four to six batches each year.

"I first started helping my folks make apple butter when I was just a little shaver and started making it on my own 60 years ago," Mack will tell you. In all that time he has never changed the recipe. Now, as then, he starts out with 12 to 14 gallons of cider which he pours in the 30-gallon copper kettle about 7 a.m. Over a blazing wood fire the cider soon begins to boil and about the same time, two other elderly Waldo men are apt to arrive to "give Bill a hand." They are S. W. Almendinger, 81, who lives on a farm just north of Waldo on Route 23 and W. M. Hoke, 89, who, like Mack, lives in Waldo.

WHILE THE CIDER is "boiling out" the three proceed to prepare about four and one-half bushels of apples to put in the kettle. They peel and core the apples and cut them into quarters. Along about noon, or shortly before, the cider has cooked down to a thick syrup and the apples are dumped into the kettle along with 25 pounds of sugar and some cinnamon.

From then until about 3 p.m. "when we always aim to finish up" the three men take turns manning the giant stirring paddle. The butter must be churned constantly from this time until it is done to prevent it sticking to the bottom of the kettle.

ONCE COOKED the apple butter is poured from the kettle into one gallon crocks or glass jars. While Bill keeps some for himself, he sells the rest to folks in and near Waldo.

A native of Marion County, Mack was born in Richland Twonship and has lived in Waldo the last 12 years. A widower since 1944 he keeps his own home and does his own cooking. He has one son Ralph T. Mack, who is employed at the Waldo Grain and Supply Co. elevator as the operator of the sawmill and lumber yard.

Formerly a farmer, Mack retired in 1941 when he moved to Waldo.

His two brothers also are retired Marion County farmers. Hoke was born in Seneca County and has lived in Marion County in or near Waldo "only" 82 years. Almendinger is a native of Marion County and was born in Pleasant Township.

"APPLE BUTTER KING" WILLIAM F. MACK of Waldo is shown here "churning" his fourth and final batch of apple butter for the 1953 season. Using a 30-gallon copper kettle and the long handled stirring paddle, he cooks some 8 to 15 gallons at a time, four to six times a year.

Head of Big Steel, Union President Tour Ohio Plants

CLEVELAND (AP)—Top officials of U. S. Steel and the CIO United Steelworkers set out together today on a strictly experimental grass roots tour of half a dozen Ohio steel plants.

By this novel method, they hope to find a common ground for settling the little issues that sometimes swell into big ones and cause major strikes in the basic steel industry.

Heading the touring party will be Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of U. S. Steel, and David J. McDonald, president of the steelworkers union. Top aides of both will accompany them.

"Many of the problems that reach our desk arise on the local level," Fairless explained at a joint company-union press conference last night. "We hope this will be the beginning of many such plant visits."

"Our industrial relations system simply has to work and work better," added McDonald. "The machinery for settling local disputes sometimes strips a gear. We want to find out how to improve this system."

Texas Scientists Trying To Identify 'The Thing'

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—University of Texas scientists are studying a strange creature which is mostly animal but also part plant.

Dr. Jack Myers, zoology professor, described the animal-plant as a small, green, single-cell "thing" of the most primitive type.

It swims in water and can swallow solid food. However, scientists say its system contains chlorophyll and between meals it sustains itself by photosynthesis, the process whereby most plants utilize sunlight for growth.

The study is being made in an effort to learn more about the basic processes which allow plants and animals to live.

Some scientists believe that emigration never has slowed down the population growth of a large country.

HALF WET

PORTLAND, Me. (UP)—Francis H. Farnum, Jr, program director of radio station WGAN, wishes he could figure out an easy way to get the other side of his car washed. The right side was washed clean as a whistle when he parked his automobile, windows shut tight, against a downtown fountain that splashes into the street. But police won't permit parking of cars in the other direction.

Telephone System Cuts Down on False Alarms

CHICAGO (UP)—Six cities have abandoned old-style fire alarm boxes in favor of telephone systems, according to the International City Managers' Association.

The association said one result has been a sharp decline in the number of false alarms.

The six cities that have installed telephone systems are Rockford, Ill., and five towns in the Canadian province of Ontario—Sarnia, North Bay, East York, York Township and Etobicoke.

Rockford's dispatching system incorporates local telephone company equipment and two-way FM radio on all fire-fighting vehicles.

Opera Opener Success

Metropolitan Marks 70th Anniversary

NEW YORK (AP) — The Metropolitan Opera celebrated its 70th anniversary last night with a rebuilt auditorium, a bigger-than-ever, but dignified audience and a modernized "Faust"—the same opera that opened the Met 70 years ago.

The opera performance was a success, musically and production-wise.

The new house arrangement was a success because it provided more seats and bigger returns in the box office, with seats selling for up to $30.

And the Metropolitan's long campaign to turn the opening night back into a cultural occasion, and to suppress the exhibitionists who got out of hand in some past years, appeared to be succeeding too.

Observers who had called last year's Met opening unusually well behaved found this one even more so.

Last year a lady appeared in trousers. This year there was not even one outlandish costume or undignified performance.

For the opening of the Met's 69th season—there was no season in 1897 because of a fire in the opera house—Manager Rudolf Bing gave opera fans a brand-new version of the Gounod classic which opened the venerable opera house in 1883.

He even moved the time of the opera from the Middle Ages to the middle of the 19th century, with new costuming to match — including a Mephistopheles in tails.

Also new was Mephistopheles' voice, that of Nicola Rossi-Lemeni, Constantinople - born, reared in Italy and appearing here for the first time.

Jussi Bjoerling as Faust was in a role familiar to him, and Victoria de los Angeles was Marguerite.

Associated Press arts reporter W. G. Rogers called Miss de los Angeles' performance "one of the most rewarding" of the evening, and described Rossi - Lemeni's voice as a bass "without too much bite, as sweet as it was rough, with as much purr as burr."

Rogers also praised Bjoerling's Faust and the conducting of Pierre Monteux.

In Loving Memory

Of William E. Boothe who passed away three years ago today, November 17, 1950.

Three years have passed from us
Since we have seen you last,
A voice we all loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
Your end was sudden my dear,
You made us weep and cry,
But the saddest part of it all
You never said goodbye.
Little did we think when leaving home.
That you would return no more,
That you alone in death would sleep alone.
And leave us here to mourn.
But it's not ours to know the reason why,
From loved ones we must part,
But ours to live in hope and faith,
Till God do us part.

Sadly missed by wife,
Ruth May Boothe,
Daughter, Louise H. Boothe.

Fire Warning Issued After 2 Grass Blazes

A warning went out to Marion residents today from Fire Chief Owen A. Sifritt following the outbreak of two grass fires yesterday.

First of the fire calls was at 1:58 p.m. when someone dumped some hot ashes in some grass and weeds at Adams and Hamilton Sts. and a fire broke out. Firemen from the Mark St station answered the call and reported no loss resulted

An hour later, at 2 58 p.m., Mark St. station were again called out, this time to the east end of Fleetwood St. when a bonfire at the residence of Mrs. Eliza Fosster got out of control. Firemen reported there was no less from this blaze either.

In his warning, Chief Sifritt said the number of grass fires appears to be climbing. He noted that because of the extreme dryness, such fires are potentially dangerous. He asked all residents of the city and township to be on their guard against grass fires as well as all other types of fires. In addition he warned the fire department may have to take severe action against those responsible for grass fires unless their number declines.

Local Resident Bound Over in Theft at Galion

Gerald Dunaway, 21, of Marion, was bound over to the Crawford County grand jury at Bucyrus Monday under $2,000 bond on a charge of breaking and entering. On Saturday he was placed under $2,000 bond on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

Both charges were the result of the burglary and automobile theft at the Earle A. Wiener garage at Galion on Friday He signed a confession Friday afternoon following his arrest in Bucyrus, Galion police reported.

Dunaway said he had entered the Wiener garage through an unlatched window and took the keys to a car, which ran out of gas a few minutes later on the Winchester Road, southwest of Galion. He said he walked back to the garage and took another car, drove to Iberia where he stole license plates and returned to the Galion garage to steal a cash register.

Dunaway said he found only about $3 in dimes, nickels and pennies in the cash register.

McCarthy Says He'll Ask Radio, TV Time To Reply

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R—Wis) said today he would demand "radio and television time to answer former President Truman's attack upon me last night."

"I am notifying the Federal Communications Commission and will demand time on the air to answer Mr. Truman," McCarthy said.

McCarthy referred to Truman's statement in his speech that "It is now evident that the present administration has fully embraced, for political advantage, McCarthyism. I am not referring to the senator from Wisconsin—he is only important in that his name has taken on a dictionary meaning in the world."

BLASTS HIT DEFENSE PLANTS

MAYWOOD, N. J. (AP)—Five explosions today rocked a building of the Maywood Chemical Works where secret U.S. Navy production was underway. A two-mile area of Bergen County was shaken by the blasts.

No casualties were reported.

Forest Blazes Move Closer To Portsmouth

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Hundreds of volunteer firefighters today continued for the fifth day their desperate battle against a 285-acre blaze threatening West Portsmouth.

The largest fire in the state this fall, grew even bigger last night as two new brush fires broke out in the tinder-dry timberland 15 miles west of Portsmouth. Part of the burning area is the Shawnee Forest. The rest is privately owned.

Fire towermen reported the new fires out of control and said they were "burning hard and deep." Flames appeared to be gaining headway despite backfires aimed at halthing them.

So far no buildings have been hit but residences in West Portsmouth are dangerously close to the fire line.

All 36 members of the Shawnee Honor Camp have joined Portsmouth's National Guard unit and other volunteers. Ironton's National Guard is joining the fight today.

Advisers Banquet Set by 4-H Clubs

About 15 persons are expected to attend the Marion County 4-H Advisers banquet at LaRue High School tonight at 6 30 p.m. The banquet is sponsored by the Marion County 4-H Junior Leaders.

This is the second year in which the dinner has been held to show the Junior Leaders' appreciation for the work done during the year by the advisers.

Main speaker will be Dr C. E. Hershey, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church. Acting as toastmaster will be Kenneth Smith, president of the Junior Leadership Club, and a member of the Claridon Buckeye Lads 4-H Club.

The banquet is sponsored financially by the banking institutions of Marion County and the Marion County Council of Farm Cooperatives.

About 50 advisers and their guests have made reservations for the dinner.

DAIRY MEETING SLATED

Third in a series of Dairy Institute meetings will be held Thursday at the YMCA beginning at 8 30 p.m. Topic for the meeting will be "Efficient Dairy Housing." Conducting the meeting will be Kenneth Battles, extension engineer from Ohio State University, and Perry Elsworth, dairy technologist at Ohio State.

Convention Rallies Behind Truman

CLEVELAND (AP)—The CIO convention today rallied behind former President Harry S. Truman in the Harry Dexter White case.

Without a dissent, the 700 delegates adopted a resolution condemning the actions of Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. and Chairman Harold Velde (R-Ill.) of the House Un-American Activities committee.

Brownell charged White was known as a Communist spy "by the very people who appointed him" to high government office.

The resolution called Brownell's charge "a wanton unsupported and politically spiteful attack" on the ex-president.

It also criticized President Eisenhower, accusing him of leaving "to a member of his Cabinet the license to make this unwarranted attack on the patriotism of a former president."

Supporting the resolution, CIO President Walter P. Reuther said Mr. Truman's speech to the nation last night "inspired" his listeners.

"Thank God," he said, "that Harry S. Truman has the same guts and courage in fighting reaction as he had in fighting Communism."

President Joseph A Beirne of the Communications Workers, speaking for the resolution, called for Brownell's resignation.

Harding Climbs Back Into List of Ohio Grid Powers

Massillon Remains at Top; Fremont Ross Placed Ninth

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dayton Roosevelt had only 18 points today in The Associated Press high school football poll—just 300 back of front-running Massillon—but no one was happier than the Gem City Teddies.

Coach Dave Gorbys inspired crew chose Friday the 13th for one of the season's big upsets to round out the season with six wins, two losses and a tie

The Teddies were up against sixth-ranked Middletown, beaten only by second-place Portsmouth No Dayton team had defeated Middletown in 41 tries dating back to 1923

But Gorby sprinkled some surprising split-T tactics into his attack, used a 10-man offensive line at times, and topped it off with a kid named Hal Williams. Hal, 6 feet 2 and weighing 176, was all-city defensive end last year. He started this fall as offensive tackle, then backed the line on defense In mid-season he shifted back to end.

But against the Middies he moved in as a halfback for the first time, carried 17 times for 147 yards, an average of better than eight, and scored a touchdown.

The result—Roosevelt 33, Middletown, 0—matches the worst defeat in Middletown history The Middies fell from sixth to 22nd, two points back of Roosevelt

Massillon, five-time state champ and poll leader all year, meanwhile erased another big threat as it defeated Fremont Ross, winner of eight straight, 40-7. The loss jolted Ross from fifth to ninth, but Fremont drew loud praise from Massillon's Chuck Mather.

"If Fremont played in a tougher league all year, it could hold its own with anybody—and I mean anybody," Mather enthused.

Middletown's exit from the top 10 left a spot open, and Lisbon's sturdy nine-game winners moved into 10th place

Massillon 351-48, Portsmouth 332- and Cincinnati Purcell (3), along with seventh place Toledo DeVilbiss and Lisbon, have clean nine-game records. New Philadelphia (4) has been tied once Dayton Chaminade (5), Cleveland Benedictine (8) and Fremont (9) have been beaten once, and Warren (6) has dropped two.

Scoring records of the leaders. Massillon 351-48, Portsmouth 3-42, Purcell 282-51, New Philly 232-6, Chaminade 371-73, Warren 212-111, DeVilbiss 227 - 63, Benedictine 224-72, Fremont 322 - 87, and Lisbon 277-32.

Dave Kuenzli of Upper Sandusky wound up with 227 points, tops in the state. He got only nine points, his season's low, in the 27-6 win over Carey as he celebrated his 17th birthday Friday. He has scored 32 touchdowns, made 35 of 44 extra point attempts, gained 2160 yards rushing for a 9.1 average, completed 34 of 58 passes for 607 yards. He's a good student, too.

Bob Hamor, Marion Harding's All-Ohio tackle candidate, wound up his career in style. He snagged an overthrown pass and went 41 yards for a touchdown to help beat Sandusky 18-0.

Here's how the teams are rated this week by 36 newspaper and radio - television sports editors. (Votes on 10-9-8-etc basis.)

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

Pete Howison spent a busy weekend in compiling final figures for his Harding Presidents' season which concluded Friday at Sandusky. And those figures tell an interesting story of Harding's most successful season since 1949, when an 8-2 record was posted.

SHORT

The Harding offensive machine ground out slightly over a mile during its nine-game slate. In 396 thrusts at the opposition, the Prexy backs picked up 1,785 yards for an overall average of 4.5 a carry. The opposition was held to 672 yards in 298 attempts for an average of 2.2 a carry.

Don Schweinfurth and Fred Price combined to throw 93 passes. Thirty of these connected for a total of 518 yards and a 323 percentage. Twelve Harding throws were intercepted. Opposing teams hit on 34 of 112 tosses for 575 yards. But a total of 20 interceptions was recorded by the Presidents' trio of defenders. Fred Price, Doug Bibler and Joe Snouffer Howison reported the highest he had ever had before was 17 interceptions in a 10-game schedule. Price topped the list with eight, Snouffer had seven, Bibler grabbed four and Whitey Clinger had the other

Chet King was the top target for Harding passes. He took 18 to cover 271 yards. Gene Armstrong ranked second with four for 68 yards.

The Harding team rolled to 103 first downs while allowing only 62 However, Harding was on the long end of the penalty list with 380 yards walked off while the nine foes were hit for 306. The local team punted only 33 times and averaged 29 8 yards a kick. The tight Prexy defenders forced their foes to punt 53 times for a 26 9 average.

Gary Ballinger was the workhorse of the Harding backfield. 'Chug' carried the ball on 180 plays and racked up 862 yards for a mark of 5 35 per carry. King was second in total yardage. He carried for 443 yards in 105 tries for an average of 4 22. Joe Albinack picked up 377 yards in 85 attempts for a 4 43 average and Bibler lugged on 16 plays for 57 yards and a 3 56 mark.

Ballinger and King were deadlocked for scoring honors. Each crossed the goal line on eight plays for 48 points Bibler had three touchdowns for 18 points while John Obenour kicked 16 extra points for fourth place. Albinack and Price each scored 12 points while Bob Prater and Bob Hamor, two linemen, had single TD's. Obenour, who developed into a deadly kicking artist, went into the final game Friday with 16 of 20 attempts turned in

The Harding team, in posting a 6-2-1 season mark, notched 166 points to 71 for the nine foes.

Grid Pollsters Retain Irish as Tops in Nation

NEW YORK (AP) — Notre Dame and Maryland, only major elevens to escape the season's plague of "upsetitis," stood almost unchallenged today as the No. 1 and No. 2 teams of college football.

Notre Dame, preseason favorite for national honors, held its position at the head of the Associated Press rankings for the eighth straight week but felt new pressure from its constant pursuer, Maryland.

Meanwhile, three teams which were victims of surprise reversals—Georgia Tech, West Virginia and Baylor—fell from the top 10 and gave way to newcomers Wisconsin, Southern California and Rice.

Notre Dame's Irish, who conquered North Carolina 34-14 for their seventh straight victory, had only a 60-point edge over undefeated Maryland, which smashed Mississippi 38-0.

That is equivalent to only six first-place votes in the poll, which gives 10 points for a No. 1 vote, nine for No. 2, etc.

A total of 151 sports writers and broadcasters participated this week and elevated Michigan State, the 1952 national champion, to third place, supplanting Illinois, downed by Wisconsin 34-7. The Illini slipped to seventh.

Georgia Tech, beaten by Alabama 13-7, fell from 5th to 12th, and West Virginia, its 13-game winning streak snapped by South Carolina, plummeted from 8th to 19th. Baylor, upset by Houston 37-7, dropped completely out of the picture from ninth place

Notre Dame received 93 of the 151 first-place votes while Maryland collected 42. The Irish had 1,404 points compared with 1,344 for the Terrapins

Others in the top 10 were Michigan State, Oklahoma, UCLA and Texas.

The top 10 (first-place votes in parentheses):

1.	Notre Dame (93)	1,404
2.	Maryland (42)	1,344
3.	Michigan State (3)	1,091
4.	Oklahoma (3)	920
5.	UCLA	806
6	Texas	348
7.	Illinois	311
8.	Wisconsin (2)	290
9.	Southern California	201
10.	Rice	185

Browns Lose Bill Willis for Pittsburgh Tilt

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sunday's rough game with the San Francisco 49ers left the Cleveland Browns with other injuries besides the gashed mouth of their star quarterback, Otto Graham,

Dr Vic Ippolito, club physician, reported Bill Willis, veteran guard, probably would miss the game at Pittsburgh next Sunday because of a knee injury Another guard, rookie Gene Donaldson, also has a knee injury which may keep him on the bench.

Graham played the last half of the 23-21 Cleveland victory with 15 stitches in his mouth—most of them on the inside No teeth were lost or bones broken He will be ready, and Coach Paul Brown announced he would start Graham Sunday.

"We go with our best until there is no question about winning the division title," Brown said His club can clinch the National Football League's Eastern Division crown by winning its next two games, even if the runner-up Philadelphia Eagles also win theirs

Ohio Select List Publishers Hear Editor From South

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hodding Carter, publisher of the Delta Democrat Times, Greenville, Miss. says the Republican party's strength in the South is fading.

The 1946 winner of the Pulitzer Prize for editorial writing told newsmen yesterday he believes the Republican trend in the South has been stopped.

Carter was in Columbus to address the Ohio Select List of Daily Newspaper Publishers, a group representing 51 non-metropolitan newspapers.

Hamilton McPeck of the Bellefontaine Examiner was elected president as the group closed its two-day annual convention. He succeeds Gordon K. Bush of the Athens Messenger. Robert C Dix of the Ravenna Record is the new vice president and J. O. Ames of the Sydney News was reelected secretary-treasurer

Advertising executives of the group elected T. B. Artz of the Wooster Record president, Jack B. Lake of the Lancaster Eagle-Gazette vice-president and Lawrence Finch of the Troy News secretary-treasurer.

Radio Station Manager Denies Charge at Ironton

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Marshall Rosene, general manager of Portsmouth radio station WNXT pleaded innocent yesterday to charges rising from an attempt to broadcast a Portsmouth-Ironton football game Friday night.

Charges of parking a truck off an established route and failure to obey an officer will be heard in common pleas court Nov. 25. Rosene was arrested after a truck unit began broadcasting the game from outside Ironton Stadium.

Rosene said school officials refused him authority to broadcast. Then, he said, Portsmouth radio station WPAY and Ironton radio station WIRO received last-minute permission to broadcast the sell-out game.

His lawyer said no law prohibits a station from airing a football game. Furthermore, he said, Rosene came to Ironton in his own car—not in the truck.

YOU'RE RIGHT, ANNIE — THE FOG IS JUST LIKE A GREAT, BIG, WET, COTTON BLANKET THAT'S TRYING TO SMOTHER THE WORLD—
IT'S SO SLY AN' SNEAKY— I DON'T KNOW WHERE IT COMES FROM OR WHERE IT GOES, BUT IT CREEPS AN' CRAWLS EVERYWHERE AN' NEVER, EVER MAKES ANY NOISE—
YOU CAN HEAR THE WIND SING, WHISTLE AN' HOWL — YOU CAN SEE RAIN RAININ' AN' SNOW SNOWIN'— THEY AIN'T SNEAKY—
I LOVE THE RAIN AN' SNOW AN' SUNSHINE — BUT, HONEST, I THINK FOGS IS JUST AWFUL—

Unrest in Calcutta Hampers Industry

CALCUTTA (UP)—Business and industrial firms in this largest Indian city are taking steps to move to other parts of India because of continued labor unrest.

For several months, Calcutta has been in a virtual state of siege, and recently workers have begun coercive tactics such as imprisoning managers of industrial firms in their offices to emphasize wage increase and bonus demands.

The situation has become so serious that the chief minister of West Bengal, Dr. B. C. Roy, told the press that he would not be surprised "if many of Calcutta's firms are thinking of shifting their factories to other relatively peaceful states or restricting their activities in West Bengal."

Roy said that a European firm, which had agreed some time ago to set up a large factory in West Bengal, now had decided otherwise because of labor conditions.

The chief minister, in his appeal to the press, stressed the fact that if there was no industrial peace there could be no development in the state and the unemployment problem in West Bengal would not be solved.

Calcutta, the center of India's jute and tea industries, and the largest port in the East coast of India, has been hard hit by falling export markets and a general business decline. Hundreds of thousands are unemployed.

Factories and business houses that continue to work are faced with rising costs and a continuous demand for higher wages and bonuses from their employees.

Communist influence among the workers and the unemployed is considerable. Communists control most of Calcutta's labor unions.

The Communist influence in West Bengal showed itself during the recent agitation against a rise in municipal tram fare. What started out as a peaceful agitation and boycott over a rise of 1/3 of a cent soon turned into a battle between the populace and the police which paralyzed Calcutta for a month.

During the agitation the Communist Party proved so strong that an editor of a Calcutta daily claimed: "The Communist Party can take over Calcutta tomorrow if they want to. The police are nothing."

There seems to be no remedy in sight. Private industry refuses to risk any capital at the moment and government plans to combat unemployment are nebulous.
